Census To Be Systematized With Mechanical Devices

BY LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA, March 30 —
(AP)—For the first time in 170 years census data from about 151,000,000 Americans will be toted up outside of Washington.

America's third largest city (according to 1940 census figures) was chosen by Congress to tabulate the millions of forms. Ironically, there's a good chance Philadelphia will lose that "third largest" title. War-boomed Los Angeles has been growing fast.

Lack of sufficient office space in Washington was the chief reason for shifting census headquarters from the capital to Philadelphia, site of the first U. S. capital.

The count of Americans begins

Saturday when 140,000 enumerators, armed with credentials and question-filled forms, go from house to house and farm to farm ringing doorbells.

When completed, the forms will be sent here to former radio plant built by the late Atwater Kent. It was recently remodeled to house the gigantic counting machinery.
More than 5,500 clerks will edit the schedules, checking each form for consistency and accuracy.

Then "electrical brain" machines will take over to ensure completion of the record census by Dec. 1.

Tabulation by Code
Each question will be coded.

Each number on each line will represent a specific fact. Thus answers can be boiled down to numerals and the numerals recorded as holes punched in a card.

All told, there will be about 270,000,000 census forms—one for every individual, one for every dwelling and eight or more for every farm in the country.

The cards—totaling more than two billion—will be punched on 1,200 specially made machines built by the International Business Machine Corp. and rented to the U. S.

After the cards are punch-coded and cross-indexed geographically, they will be shipped to Washington where they will be analyzed

Marshall Plan Score Added Up After Two Years

World Controversy Swirling Around Help Given Europe

By BILL ROSS
WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—
Just across Lafayette Park from the White House is a modernistic twelve-story building that is the nerve-center of America's mightiest offensive in the "cold war" with Russia.

From this headquarters is directed the Marshall Plan which on Monday passes its second birthday.

The building houses the Economic Cooperation Administration the agency established by Congress to run a program due to cost American taxpayers about $13,000,000,000 at the time it ends on June 30, 1952.

To mark the second anniversary and half-way point of the multi-billion dollar project, Soldier-Statesman George C. Marshall—who, as secretary of state, first devised the plan—will make what ECA officials call a "major speech."

General Marshall's words will be directed to employees of the recovery agency at a birthday rally to be given by them. But you can be sure the world will be listening.

Controversy Center

For the Marshall Plan today is far more controversial—both in the United States and abroad —than when the general first suggested it in a speech at Harvard University in June, 1947.

Marshall's idea in the beginning was this: All Europe—including Russia—should get together to rebuild the continent in a cooper-

Snakeblood Highball Is Latest Thing for Pick-up in Japan Now

TOKYO, March 30—(AP)—The latest thing for that run-down, old-age feeling is a snakeblood highball.

"Many prominent Japanese including legislators, government officials, novelists, poets, actresses and—oops!—Geisha girls are regular customers," a snakeblood salesman said today.

Here's how you mix the drink:
Take one live snake (gingerly, son) hand it by its tail and puncture the hide near the heart. With a gentle massaging motion, squeeze the blood into a glass. Add fruit juice or wine, garnish with snake heart and liver, and serve.

Customers under 40 years are urged to limit themselves to one snakeball per month, those between 40 and 55 may have six and those over 60 may gorge as many as 20 snorts.

For those with that extra deep-down, run-down feeling, the viper is recommended. It's a double-shot, as much as 40 grams of revitalizing snakejuice.

Census Taker Loses on Job

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—
(AP)—The windswept Farallon Islands have a population of 30—and that's the first official return here from the 1950 census.

The count was turned in yesterday by census taker Helen Leslie Mabbott, blonde, and 31, a heavy loser on her trip to the volcanic rocks 23 miles west of the Golden Gate.

Uncle Sam paid her seven cents
a head for the count plus seven cents for each of the island's three dwellings. That brought in $2.31.

The Coast Guard furnished
transportation but Helen counted
up a $2.88 loss after paying for a new pair of nylons, a new hairdo
and a cleaner's bill for her coat.

From a Coast Guard cutter she was hoisted up a 200-foot cliff by boom to the island. Then she mounted 380 feet to the island's lighthouse for her first interview.

Her mishaps included two attacks of sea sickness, skinned shins, windburn and a variety of aches and bruises.

Six Held for Holdup

CINCINNATI, March 30—(AP)— Three men and three women were held today in connection with the holdup shortly after midnight of the Calico Cat Restaurant, in which it was said $175 was taken.

McCarthy Promised FBI Protection As He Assails State Department

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)— Promised FBI protection Senator McCarthy laid plans for a Senate speech today on the man he accuses of being Russia's top spy in the state department.

The man is Owen J. Lattimore, American expert on far eastern affairs who has reported that the Wisconsin Republican's charge is "pure moonshine."

McCarthy told reporters he would be ready with his speech when the Senate convened, but it was not certain in advance when he would get recognition from the presiding officer.

There was unanimous agreement to let Senator Neely (D-W. Va.) talk first on another matter. McCarthy indicated he would try to obtain the floor after Neely. And, in accordance with McCarthy's request, FBI Director

J. Edgar Hoover said an agent would be on hand when the Senator spoke.

McCarthy outlined his charges against Lattimore last week at a secret session of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee which is investigating his contention that communists and fellow travelers have infested the state department.

He has said he is willing to let all of his accusations stand or fall on the outcome of the Lattimore case.

Aid For Asia Asked

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Acheson told Congress that any cut in the $45,000,000 asked for President Truman's "point four" program would have unfortunate results on efforts to check com-

No Clues Uncovered In Beating-Robbery

So far, no clues to the slugging, robbing and binding of James Thompson, well known farmer of near Grape Grove, early this week, have been uncovered.

Thompson was found securely bound and gagged 24 hours after he had been beaten and robbed by three men who had accosted him

Monday while he was feeding chickens at his home.

One of the men, he said, covered him with a gun, forced him to go into the house and beat him in an effort to make him tell where he had hidden money supposed to be about the house. They obtained only $15.

Thompson is still in a serious condition as result of being tied up without food and water for 24 hours, and from the brutal treatment he had received.

Officers, Thursday, indicated they would ask for a guardian for Thompson, who had lived alone for 10 years on his farm a few miles from the Fayette-Greene County line.

Thompson is well known in northwestern Fayette County, and had fed off many hogs in recent years. He was supposed to have had considerable money about the premises.

Belief is expressed that the three men who beat, robbed and tied him, are from some nearby town.

It is the second or third time that his house has been burglarized in recent years.

Officers are waiting until Thompson recovers sufficiently to give them a definite description of the trio who robbed him.

Tire Prices Going Up

AKRON, March 30—(AP)— Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced today it will raise the price of first line truck tires 5 per cent, April 1.

The same announcement was made last week by the B. F. Goodrich Co. U. S. Rubber Co. said today in New York it will follow the same lead April 5.

Circleville Bars Air Force Academy

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—
Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) told the defense department today that Circleville, Ohio, no longer wants to be the home of the proposed new air force academy.

Brehm said the Circleville Chamber of Commerce withdrew its request that the academy be located there because it felt the project would take too much property off local tax rolls. Brehm said he also withdrew his endorsement of Circleville's request.

Actor's Father Dies

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 30—(AP)—Joe Yule, veteran showman, father of actor Mickey Rooney, died at his home today following a heart attack. He was 61.

Mental Patients In Barred Room Are Suffocated

Heroic Rescuers Save Many - - Some Hysteria, No Panic

PHILADELPHIA, March 30—(AP)—Nine male patients — some strapped to their beds — suffocated as rescuers tore apart wire meshed windows and crawled through smoke filled rooms of a private sanatorium to lead scores of others to safety.

At least 30 other patients — men and women — and one fireman were overcome by smoke that poured from a basement fire into a wing of the Bellevista sanatorium last night.

The three-story sanatorium, located in suburban Springfield Township, is for convalescent, senile, nervous and mental patients.

Fire Marshall Edward H. Chew said the blaze apparently started in the basement laundry from an unknown cause. It spread to the first floor, where the men patients were housed, was brought under control quickly as seven Philadelphia fire units and four volunteer companies from nearby communities responded to the alarm.

Victims Suffocate

Those who suffocated were all in quarters on the first floor.
Women patients on the second floor were removed through windows down ladders.

Superintendent Roland L. Randall said the wing with wire-covered windows housed about 43 men and 31 women. Many of the men patients were considered violent and were held in their beds by restraining straps, Chew said.

Most of the patients from the wing and other sections of the L-shaped building fled in their nightclothes. They were housed temporarily in other buildings of the sanatorium and nearby hospitals.

There was some hysteria but no panic, said Police Chief Andrew (Please turn to Page Twenty)

Colorful Character In Sports Is Dead

HAMILTON, March 30—(AP)— Harry S. Thobe, 80, a sports figure in this part of Ohio for many years died today from a stroke. His home was in Oxford.

Cincinnati baseball fans will miss him April 18, when they open the National League season against Chicago.

Dressed in a white suit, wearing a straw hat, and carrying an opened red and white colored parasol and a megaphone, he had participated in opening game ceremonies here for many years.

His claim was that he had not missed an opener since 1894, and that he had participated in the Miami University homecoming parade in Oxford for 54 consecutive years.

Thobe danced, pranced, sang and yelled at opening ball games.
And at all Miami football contests.

He was on the field before the start, and on top of the baseball dugouts urging the fans to cheer
the home boys to victory.

Dancing Girls May Be Lost

LOS ANGELES, March 30—(AP)— Christopher G. Janus may not get those Egyptian dancing girls after all.

Janus, 39, a Chicago importer, arrived here on business yesterday with news that his aunt is contesting the will under which his uncle left him one third of the estate.

The uncle, P. Z. Aristophron, was a wealthy Egyptian cotton planter of Greek origin. A listing of the assets of his estate included 12 dancing girls, aged 16 to 21, who traditionally dance at festive occasion on the Aristophron plantation. They are daughters of workers whose ancestors have been there for generations.

Under the will, Janus' share was 8,000 acres, 200 camels, 150 donkeys and four of the 12 dancing girls. But his wife wouldn't let him bring the girls to the United States and now, Janus says, his aunt wants it all—"all the land, all the camels, all the burros and I suppose all the dancing girls."

Census To Start Here Next Monday Morning

Sixteen women and nine men
Monday morning will start forth in all districts in Fayette County, to enumerate every resident of the county for the 17th decennial census.

They will work from 8:30 A. M. to 5 P. M. daily, and expect to complete the census work during the month of April.

To make sure that each one of the 25 enumerators is qualified for the work, a daily school is now being conducted at Memorial Hall by Thomas Carr, crew leader for Fayette County.

Carr started the school Monday morning, and it will continue the remainder of the week, with sessions lasting from 8 A. M. until 1 P. M. daily.

All phases of the census work are being gone over one by one and fully explained to the enumerators.

Appointment of the enumerators in Fayette County was made by Paul J. Groeber, district supervisor, who has offices in Springfield.

Selection of the enumerators was made from a great many applicants in the county, who were given preliminary tests.

Following is a complete list of the enumerators in Fayette County:

Thomas Corwin Carr, crew leader or county director.

'Mo's' Captain Pleads Guilty

NORFOLK, Va., March 30—(AP)— Capt. William D. Brown pleaded guilty today to charges of negligence and neglect of duty in the grounding of the battleship Missouri.

Brown, who commanded the Big Mo when she ran aground on a Chesapeake Bay shoal January 17, pleaded guilty to each of three charges and four specifications.

The action of the former skipper of the 45,000-ton battleship came shortly after he was arranged before a general court martial convened to try him on the charges.

Several minutes earlier he had stood before the court, composed of four rear admirals and three captains, and heard the judge advocate read these charges:

(1) "Through negligence suffering a vessel of the Navy to be stranded."

(2) "Through negligence suffering a vessel of the Navy to be hazarded."

(3) "Neglect of duty."

Prices Cut on Cars By Willys-Overland

TOLEDO, March 30—(AP)—Price cuts ranging from $40 to $120 were announced today by Willys-Overland on its leading models.

The announcement was made at a dealers sales convention and press preview of an entirely new line of Willys-Overland vehicles.

Teen-age Baby Sitter a Heroine After Saving Four from Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 30—(AP)—A teen-age baby sitter was acclaimed a heroine by firemen last night for saving four small children as fire quickly destroyed their home.

Norma Lee Cook, 13, a seventh grader, tasted tears as she told about how four-year-old Leland Ray Tate started the blaze in another room while playing with matches.

The flames leveled the four-room frame house of Mr. and Mrs.
Paul Tate, causing $2,000 damage.
"I got them all out but they don't have any clothes or furniture left," Norma choked out. "I

Fayette County Is Not Affected

State's High Court Rules on Bond Votes

Fayette County is unaffected by an Ohio Supreme Court ruling handed down Wednesday, it was revealed today.

The state supreme court ruled that bond issues had to be approved by 65 per cent of the votes cast if legislation for them had been started before last October 25.

Clark Wickensimer, county prosecutor, expressed the unofficial view that tax levies for rural fire protection, which were voted on during the general election, would not be affected by the ruling.
He said the ruling apparently applied only to bond issues, and none are involved in Fayette County.

Three townships, Jasper, Wayne and Madison, gave fire levies the required 65 per cent favorable vote while Perry, Green and Concord voters could muster but slightly over 55 per cent of the required vote.

'If' Speculation

Rural fire protection leaders in Fayette County expressed the view that if the supreme court had ruled favorably on the 55 per cent vote the floodgates might have been opened to obtain passage of all levies which got 55 per cent of the vote in the general election.

The fire protection leaders are going ahead with plans, however,

BULLETIN

PARIS, March 30—(AP)—Leon Blum, veteran French socialist leader, died today.

Blum, veteran of France's turbulent between-war politics, would have been 78 April 9.

Thrice premier of France, he was active in France's government to the end. He was vice premier under Andre Marie in 1948 and was a leader in the European unity movement.

A bitter foe of the Nazis before and during the war, Blum was just as vehemently an enemy of the Communists who made him a constant target of their attacks.

Hitchhiking Horse Causes Court Suit

TACOMA, Wash., March 30—(AP)—A hitchhiking horse was the basis of a $606 suit filed here yesterday.

Jerry Murray charges in his suit that last January he was operating his automobile in a lawful manner on a state highway when a horse owned by Frances Jackson jumped into his car.

This unwelcome hitchhiker, Murray declares, was in violation of the law, and the owner of the horse should be held responsible.

In addition to car damages, Murray asks $200 for pain and suffering he received and $5 for cleaning his clothes.

Uncle Sam paid her seven cents
a head for the count plus seven
cents for each of the island's three dwellings. That brought in $2.31.

The Coast Guard furnished
transportation but Helen counted
up a $2.88 loss after paying for a new pair of nylons, a new hairdo
and a cleaner's bill for her coat.

was hoisted up a 200-foot cliff by
mounted 380 feet to the island's
lighthouse for her first interview.

Her mishaps included two attacks of sea sickness, skinned shins, windburn and a variety of aches and bruises.

She put the baby in a chair, walked into the adjoining room and saw a clothes closet blazing.

She made two trips to get the children to safety as the flames shot through the roof.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Many of you older folks still remember Henry Glicksman, who for years was engaged in business here, dealing in dry goods millinery and notions. Glicksman hated to see a customer leave his store without buying something, and often asked why they did not buy.

You who knew him will recall how, periodically, he would announce a "closing out sale" to go to "Bullfrog, Col." or some other remote point. But he always decided to remain after the sale was over.

Henry finally did sell out, and the last I heard of him he was selling real estate during the boom days in Florida.

Looking over a copy of the Daily Herald of November 19, 1894, a matter of 56 years ago, I note one of Glicksman's characteristic advertisements, which reads in part:
"Glicksman's Great Bargains.
The greatest bargains ever known in dry goods, cloaks and millinery, you can find at Glicksman's."

"If you need anything in dry goods, dress goods, dress trimmings, cloaks and millinery, go and see Glicksman's."

School Health Program Topic

Officials Meet Here With WHS Teachers

"We discussed the possibility of revamping our whole health program."

That statement, in the words of City Supt. of Schools Stephen C. Brown, sums up the meeting held at the high school Tuesday between state health officials and WHS health teachers.

At the present time, Brown said, one period of health a week is taken by each student in the seventh through the twelfth grades. "A lack of continuity in we would like to remedy it," he the subject matter results, and stated.

Two health periods a week for each student are recommended, according to the state's standards, for adequate coverage of the subject matter.

These and other phases of the program were talked over with the teachers by Paul Landis, state director of health and physical education, and Mrs. Florence Fogle, assistant in health in the state department of health and also associated with Ohio State University.

The health officials met with Brown, WHS Principal Arthur Wohlers, Miss Edith Ramage, Fred Pierson and Ronald Guinn.

Bond Issue Ruling

to extend fire protection in townships which voted levies to support the program. The townships which voted levies have tentatively been divided up into areas which can be covered most efficiently by the Greenfield, Washington C. H. and Leesburg fire departments.

Members of the rural fire protection committee will meet with city councils in each of these cities to work out details of the fire plan to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, committee members state.

Many Levies Voided
Meanwhile, millions of dollars of public improvements which voters thought they approved at the last election were invalid Thursday.

The state supreme court ruled that bond issues had to be approved by 65 per cent favorable votes if legislation for them had been started before last Oct. 25.

That's the day a law reducing the vote for approval of certain types of bonds from 65 to 55 per cent became effective.

The court held that if legislation was begun before that date the bond issues required a 65 per cent affirmative vote.

The court's decision came when it denied the city of Cincinnati a writ of mandamus to compel its auditor, James G. Flick, to recognize a $2,450,000 bond issue for parks and playground improvements being adopted.

The Cincinnati bond issue was approved by 59 per cent of all votes cast.

The issue was taken to court to test the validity of all issues voted on in Cincinnati last November. These amounted to some $12,575,000 worth of public improvement bond issues. Some $6,000,000 in Hamilton County improvement issues also were voted upon.

Mayor Albert D. Cash of Cincinnati said the city issues will be on the ballot again next November.

The court also refused to reconsider its decisions in the Toledo and Dayton city income tax cases. Recently the court held cities could levy income taxes, when it upheld the constitutionality of Toledo's one per cent levy.

At the same time, the court invalidated the Dayton income tax of one-half of one per cent because voters had not approved it, as called for in the city charter.

Voters may get a chance to vote on the income tax proposal in Dayton at a special election sometime in May, according to present plans.

The supreme court decided to review the "Carrington-Phillips" case. Lower courts have barred Hubert R. Carrington of Lawrence County from the May 2 primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator. Carrington also is known as Hubert L. Phillips, and the courts held he must use both names in filing his nominating petition. He filed under the name of Phillips.

Are You Ready For the Census Taker?

Within a few days many people in Washington C. H. and Fayette County will be approached by a census taker. Others will get questioned soon thereafter.

Beginning April 1 the census takers start on their jobs and we may as well face their questions with a smile. It will be about five or six weeks before the job is finished in this county, a crew of 25 will be on the job in this locality.

For some months past there has been more or less of a rumpus over inclusion of some personal questions in the census plans.

Particularly is this true concerning the matter of questioning every fifth person about income. Most of the furor seems to have died down, however.

It has seemed to some critics that the queries planned for this nose-counting were unnecessarily probing, but probably not many more of such questions have been added in this census than were added to previous ones, by comparison with preceding sets of questions. Each time the census becomes more comprehensive, the resulting statistics more bulky and exhaustive. And perhaps each time the census becomes more useful, at least so far as national statistics are concerned.

Probably there has been more sensitivity to personal questions asked by government now than in other census years. It is a sign of the times. We have been thinking and talking about intrusions of government into private affairs, both here and abroad in the world, and are inclined to cast a suspicious eye on any new move which seems to be in that direction. But the 1950 census appears to be surrounded by the customary safeguards against revelation or use of information about individuals. No one outside the Census Bureau is to have access to the answer sheets.

At any rate the noses get counted and the figures and answers get sorted out into tables. And in a year or two we'll know the result.

Women Inventors

Women who have been impatient with traditional clumsy, impractical equipment are finding an outlet in invention, the patent lists indicate. Elastic waistbands to do away with many buttons, an electric clothes dryer, sewing machine attachments, and an electric dry-mop cleaner are among work-savers recently prefected by feminine ingenuity.

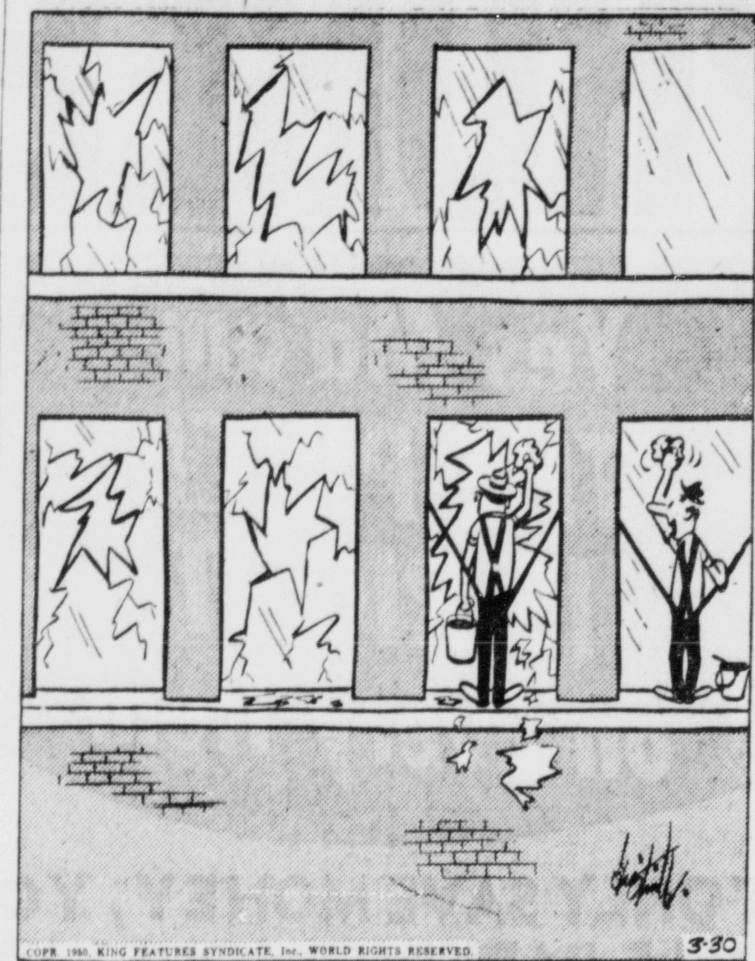

Fields far removed from domesticity have been entered by women who have solved problems in such things as color photography, fluorescent lighting and the use of supersonic vibrations.

Success along these lines is founded on the same basic requirements as success in any other field, namely hard and patient work. The prime requisites, however, must be a keen sense of observation and the same creative fire which incites artistic achievement. These qualities are as likely to be present in women as in men.

Not all American males admire the babushka which has become so popular with the female species. One writer, arguing against it, has found a consideration likely to carry weight. He says it makes the wearer look older.

The next time the man of the house is asked to forsake his comfortable living room chair to "run upstairs" for some item the little woman forgot, he might argue in favor of the status quo by pointing out that the task would burn energy, in calories, 158 per cent faster than sawing wood.

Drugs Are Helpful During Middle Life

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WE have a great many different drugs for relieving symptoms which usually accompany the menopause or the change of life. Recently, in order to determine the relative effectiveness of the various drugs, a study was made in which they were given to 200 women. The results indicate that while all are not equally good for all patients, every patient can be helped by one or another of the remedies which are at the command of physicians today.

Small Doses

Of the various preparations tried, it was found that one known as ethinyl estradiol produced its effect with the smallest dose. From this standpoint, it was one of the most economical preparations to use and it was also easily administered. However, this preparation produced nausea or sickness at the stomach more frequently than the others studied. The drug seemed to produce rapid relief of the symptoms, but excessive bleeding was a common complication.

The symptoms of the menopause which seems to be most severe are headaches, hot flashes, sleeplessness, nervousness, and depression.

In most instances, prompt relief of the symptoms was noted with the various drugs used. All of the preparations seemed to give this relief with equal frequency.

If relief occurred only gradually, headaches appeared to be the symptom which persisted the longest. Often, larger doses of the preparations were needed to get rid of the headaches.

Sleeplessness was rapidly controlled, as were the hot flashes. Nervousness and depression are the most resistant symptoms and required the longest time to overcome.

Regular Intervals

Some of the patients complained of the return of headaches and flashes at regular intervals. These intervals seem to correspond to the time when the regular period would be expected to take place. However, increasing the dose of the drug used seemed to suppress symptoms, even at these times.

It would seem from this study that the great majority of patients with symptoms due to the change of life could be given relief by estrogens, which are gland extracts from the ovaries that can be administered by mouth. Of course, all such preparations must be administered under the direction of a physician who will select the proper one to use in the right dose, as well as tell when and if estrogens are to be used. They are, however, not employed in most cases until the menstrual periods have stopped.

Beans Can Be Sown in Pairs, Properly Spaced, to Insure a Good Stand.

You Can't Be Too Careful in Sowing Garden Seeds

While seed sowing is not a precision job—especially when nature does it—gardeners soon learn that much can be saved if it is done with some skill and judgment.

If sown too thinly, there may be vacant spaces in the row, caused by local mishaps such as drowning, or washing out, or an attack of fungus. If sown too thickly, seedlings will come up crowded, and there will be extra work in thinning out the excess plants.

Some seeds are often sown so thickly that ninety per cent of the plants must be sacrificed, in order to give the remainder room enough to mature. This is waste of both seed and labor. Then what will serve as a guide to follow?

As a general rule, not more than fifteen seeds to an inch should be needed, when seed is of standard germination, and the soil is fairly porous. Start with that rule, and then make these exceptions:

If seed is of sub-standard germination, or known to be old, double that rate. Carrot seedlings are feeble, and often have difficulty breaking through the soil if it is at all inclined to crust. Use twice as much carrot seed if you have doubts about your soil being porous enough. In the case of large seeds, such as beet, Swiss chard, and peas, which can be spaced precisely, sow them an inch apart.

Bush beans usually are allowed to grow four inches apart in the row. If you wish to avoid vacant spaces, a good way is to sow beans in pairs, spaced four inches apart. Seldom will both seeds in a pair fail to grow. If both grow, one can easily be pulled up, or let them both develop, since twin plants will do as well as singles.

The surest way to sow small seeds is to take a few in the hand, and let them fall through the fingers into the drill which has been prepared. Get close to the ground, and with a little practice you can quickly acquire control so that the seeds will be evenly distributed, each sufficiently distant from the next to prevent entanglement.

"Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight"

Our ten o'clock curfew lasted for 50 years, but the town council voted it out. I dropped in at the meeting in Town Hall last week just in time to hear Smiley Roberts.

"The curfew is old-fashioned," says Smiley. "We ought to be grown-up enough by now to behave like grownups. Seeing to it that our kids get to bed is the responsibility of each family." Then Judge Cunningham adds, "Most of us are in bed when the curfew horn blows anyway. It wakes me up just when I'm getting to sleep!"

What the Judge said was good for a laugh, but Smiley just about summed up how folks think in this town. We believe that the democratic tradition of "live and let live" is the only way to live.

From where I sit, it's not the American way to regulate your life by a horn—any more than it's right to criticize my caring for a temperate glass of beer now and then. Think what you wish, say what you wish, but don't ask your neighbor to do exactly as you do!

How Can You Stop the Milkman

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(A)—How do you turn off a milkman?

There must be a way, but in 13 days, two hours and 12 minutes I haven't figured out how to do it. It has been exactly that long since my wife left me on a three-week visit to relatives in Texas.

"It's the first time you've had the apartment all to yourself in ten years," said Frances. "Have fun, you poor thing."

The last thing I remember her saying was, "you don't have to worry about the milkman. Just tell him to stop delivery."

I have — about 12 times, including once when I took some checkers and spelled out in the doorway: "no milk." It hasn't worked. Nothing's worked. I even started delivering it back to him each night, but each morning there were just two bottles instead of one.

I suppose he finds it impossible to turn off his cows and is just passing his problem on to me. I've been relaying it to the refrigerator, but it's full now. So am I — grade A and pasteurized up to my ears.

It's a funny thing about milk. You can't even give it away. If you go up to a strange roomer with two bottles in your hands and say, "please, lady, take this milk," she starts backing off. She thinks you have a delusion you're Napoleon playing super-market.

The worst thing about my ever-flowing milkman is that when Frances comes home and looks in the refrigerator, she'll say, "well, Rover, couldn't you at least tell the man to stop delivering milk?" And she'll tell him once to stop, and he'll stop. He'll probably even settle by taking four bottles back.

Such is the authority of wives, and the futility of husbands. As a matter of fact everything about my period of enforced bachelorhood has convinced me that a man can't really run a home by himself. He can only run it down. The man-about-the-house is just a myth.

As soon as a wife leaves, the place starts falling apart at the seams. Pants get out of press, shirts won't go to the laundry, light bulbs go out while you're reading the evening newspaper, rain comes in the window and runs onto the rug, you run out of razor blades, your shoestrings break and suspender buttons pop off like mad.

And of 14,000,000 men in the last war I suppose I was the only one who never learned to sew on a button. I always thought that was for first lieutenants.

The most shattering blow to my pride has been my experience in the kitchen. If there was one thing I could do as a Boy Scout it was to whip up a batch of bacon and eggs.

But what has happened to eggs over the years? They cook up sentimental on one side now and cynical on the other. Every one I put in the pan ended up looking like an oyster on top and a mess of clinders on the bottom.

Of course, I could hard boil them, but there's a water shortage on, and I don't want neighbors going around whispering I'm unpatriotic.

The dish I've had the best luck with so far is raw marshmallows. You eat all you want, and then spend an hour brushing the powdered sugar off your vest. But after three evenings a diet of straight marshmallows begins to lose some of its glamor.

Wives are habit forming, but there's no better habit for a fellow with ten thumbs. I'll be glad when mine gets back.

United States, Great Britain and China) are fighting this war to restrain and punish the aggression of Japan. They covet no gain for themselves, and have no thought of territorial expansion.

"It is their purpose that Japan shall be stripped of all the islands in the Pacific which she has seized or occupied since the beginning of the First World War in 1914, and that all the territories that Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria, Formosa, and the Pescadores, shall be restored to the Republic of China."

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, has pinned the label "communist" or "pro-communist" on a number of people.

Some of them already have bitterly denied his accusations. And some have told of threats against their lives by angry people who believed McCarthy's charges.

This question may have occurred to you:

"If McCarthy's charges turn out to be untrue, can't these accused people sue him for damages? Or can a member of Congress say anything he pleases about anyone and get away with it?"

McCarthy can't be sued for anything he says about these people so long as he says it on the floor of Congress or before the subcommittee investigating his charges.

That's because he's protected by a thing called "congressional immunity." Every member of Congress is protected by that immunity. Which means:

No member of Congress can be jailed or sued for anything he says about anyone so long as he says it on the floor of either House or Senate or before a committee of Congress.

This immunity from suit or punishment of members of Congress is written into the Constitution. The idea behind that is this: to give members of Congress the greatest possible freedom in debating public questions or taking part in congressional hearings or investigations.

But if McCarthy made the same charges outside Congress—say in a talk on the radio—he could be sued. McCarthy told the Senate last Feb. 20 that he would not hide behind congressional immunity.

On that day, in a Senate speech, McCarthy made sweeping charges that there are mobs of communists or disloyal people in the state department.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, leader of the Senate Democrats, got up and urged McCarthy, since he was protected by congressional immunity, to name names.

"That's all I want the Senator to do," Lucas said, challenging McCarthy to lay before the Senate all the information he claimed he had. McCarthy answered:

"I will not say anything on the Senate floor which I will not say off the Senate floor. On the day when I take advantage of the security we have on the Senate floor, on that day I will resign from the Senate."

McCarthy has made no charges—except one notable exception to be explained in a moment—where he was not clearly protected by congressional immunity.

And yesterday Haldore Hanson of the state department—McCarthy said Hanson wants to "communize the world"—challenged McCarthy to make the same accusation in some place where he can't protect himself from a damage suit by congressional immunity.

Now it remains to be seen whether McCarthy will accept Hanson's challenge.

The one notable exception mentioned above—that is, the one instance where there's a question whether McCarthy was protected by congressional immunity—came about this way:

In his office—not on the floor of the Senate and not before a committee—he told newsmen that one individual connected with the state department was the "top Soviet espionage agent in the United States." And—he told the newsmen the man's name.

Subsequently, this man's name was released in the public press. Then a law firm, consulted by the accused man's wife, made public a letter which it sent to McCarthy. The letter said:

The firm was giving McCarthy a chance to retract his charges but it added that, as a matter of law, retraction wouldn't save him from a court suit if the accused man wishes to take action against him.

It might seem from what's been said here that a member of Congress has no immunity if he speaks off the floor of Congress or outside a committee. That's not necessarily so.

A court might rule anything a member of Congress says while inside the walls of Congress—and a congressman's office is inside the walls—carries immunity with it.

The U. S. Bureau of Land Management says about 116,000,000 acres of public land is unsurveyed in continental U. S.

Tract Graded For New Motel

Opening Planned For Mid-summer

Grading for a new motel was under way about two miles west of Washington C. H. on the CCC Highway.

Herb Nushaw, who has undertaken the project, said he hopes to have it completed by mid-summer.

Nushaw said the motel—a sort of deluxe tourist camp—would be on a three-acre tract just west of the Yum Yum Drive-in Restaurant which he opened about three years ago.

He is uncertain just how big the motel will be. It is to start, however, with six double units, he added.

When he put up the Yum Yum Restaurant, Nushaw said he bought five acres of ground along the highway from C. F. Highley.

The restaurant and parking area, he said, occupy about two acres. This was leased several months ago to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil O. Benson who are now operating it.

The motel, Nushaw said, will be on the three acres on the west side of the five-acre tract.

Work To Be Pressed
Work of the motel is to be pressed as rapidly as the weather permits. The ranch style type of architecture is to be followed.

A gasoline filling station is planned for a spot near the highway.

The Nushaws Wednesday sold their home at the corner of Main Street and Circle Avenue, through the Dews Agency, to Mr. and Mrs. Tranquillo Del Ponte. Del Ponte is a cheese expert at the Cudahy Packing Co. plant here.

Nushaw said he expected to give up his home here by July 1 and hoped to have his apartment in the motel ready by that time.

Nushaw's motel will be located on the most heavily traveled of all the many thoroughfares crisscrossing here.

Price-cutting Halt Now Sought by GE

NEW YORK, March 30—(AP)—The General Electric Co. has taken steps to sue Macy's in an attempt to halt price cutting on electrical appliances.

The court action is the first to be threatened against the big department store since a price war on electrical items began here two weeks ago.

GE affidavits, to be filed in state supreme court, allege that Macy's has been selling GE steam irons at $3.59 below the Fair Trade retail minimum of $17.95 and sandwich grills at $3 below the $14.95 minimums.

President Richard Weil, Jr., of Macy's, declined to comment on the suit, except to say Macy's is ready to defend its pricing policy.

Trade circles feel that Macy's welcomes the suit as a test of Fair Trade laws that permit manufacturers to fix minimum prices.

Work on H-bomb Is Given Priority

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., March 30—(AP)—Developments of the hydrogen bomb has been given top priority by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Sumner T. Pike, acting chairman of the commission, made the disclosure in a Mount Holyoke College address last night.

Although he did not specifically mention the hydrogen bomb, Pike said:

"We are doing some reshuffling of the projects and the personnel in the whole atomic energy program in order to bring the utmost weight to bear on the specific weapons development work which the president has recently directed us to pursue."

Americans Make Hit on Stage Of London Vaudeville Theater

LONDON, March 30—(AP)—Dollars are beginning to flow back to America as the London Palladium opens its 28-week variety season, featuring American "big name" performers.

Producer Val Parnell discovered the tremendous box office value of top American stars several years ago and his seasonal roster read like a "Who's Who" of Hollywood and Broadway.

The biggest success of all has been Danny Kaye, who added the British royal family to his host of admirers. Others who trod the Palladium stage last year included the Ink Spots, Burns and Allen, Benny Goodman, Harp and Chico Marx, Allan Jones, Eleanor Powell and movie songbird Kathryn Grayson.

The money taken out of Britain by them is not announced to the public, but stars like those mentioned draw enough in their usual pay checks to start a Marshall Plan in reverse. They are allowed to take dollars out of Britain because the treasury allows that privilege to foreign artists.

Topping the opening bill at the Palladium this week is Comedian Danny Thomas, who has worked his way to the top through night clubs, radio and movies, telling stories and singing ditties in a fast, witty style.

Americans on the supporting bill include the Bernard Brothers, who give every indication of becoming expatriates as British and Parisian crowds applaud their mimicry of popular recordings.

First Time Success

The veteran American night club and vaudeville team of Ross and LaPiere, whose imitations of musical instruments have amused thousands of Americans, also are playing their first date here. This pair played Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe in New York for 18 months at one stand.

The Palladium's opening bill is set for four weeks. Coming in for successive two-week stints are Tony Martin and Dorothy Lamour.

Although Parnell won't say yet who else he has lined up for the summer months, there have been whispers about Frank Sinatra and Lena Horne among others. And no one will be surprised if Danny Kaye makes yet another triumphal return.

By far the most shellfish, by weight, caught in American waters are shrimp.

Good Fortune Hits O'Briens

NEW YORK, March 30—(AP)—Fortune smiled today on the destitute O'Briens, all seven of whom have been living in a 1934 jalopy since their arrival here from Los Angeles.

Within a few hours after their story became known, gifts of money and clothing and offers of jobs and apartments began to pour in on them.

William J. O'Brien, 55, a sail, tent and awning maker out of work for a year, appeared on a local disk jockey's radio show yesterday. When he left he had $75 in cash and a suit a sympathetic listener sent him, plus an offer of a job in a Brooklyn restaurant.

Meantime, Mrs. O'Brien and the five little O'Briens, ranging in age from one to 10, were taken in at the Woman's Shelter.

The O'Briens arrived in New York St. Patrick's Day after a 10 day trip across the country in a jalopy.

The National Geographic Society says a native bride in New Guinea costs about $600.

LOSES 33 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING

"I am 37 years of age and since taking Rennel have lost 33 lbs. in about three months," writes Mrs. Donald Imhoff, R. R. No. 1, West Chester, Ohio. "I can't praise Rennel Concentrate too highly. As I am only 5 feet tall I now look so much better in my clothes and have a waistline again. All my friends keep telling me how much better I look. With Rennel I can eat plenty, yet can still lose weight. Rennel deserves all the praise I can give it."

Missionary Group Holds Meeting

A good attendance of the members of the Missionary Society of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church met at the church parlor Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. John Glenn president opened the meeting with scripture reading and Rev. Allan Peterson closed this period with prayer.

The usual reports followed and old and new business was discussed.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Lucille Creath in the absence of the leader Mrs. Ray Larrimer and consisted of readings on Japan.

Mrs. Verne Foster, read "Rural Work in Japan," Mrs. Elmer Simerl's subject was "Christian Colleges in Japan," and Mrs. Allan Peterson's "Christian Education in the Schools of Japan."

Mrs. William Clyne read from the Year Book of Prayer, and the prayer for these Missionaries was given by Mrs. Glenn.

Other readings on Presbyterian Missionary work in Europe were given by Mrs. Raymond Scott and Mrs. Lucille Creath.

A splendid detailed account of the Spring Presbyterian held at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church the past week was given by Mrs. Arthur Engle, Mrs. Allan Peterson and Mrs. Elmer Simerl.

Rev. Peterson spoke to an interested audience on the subject "Czechoslovakia."

He told of the progress being made through the Presbyterian Church in Christian work in this country and closed his talk with impressive devotionals and prayer.

Tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur Engle and Mrs. Elmer Simerl in keeping with the Easter season.

Church Society Meets with Miss Tigner

Miss Juanita Tigner was hostess to members of the Senior Christian Endeavor members of the First Christian Church on Tuesday evening for the March business meeting. A comic strip party was combined with the meeting and provided a gay evening of entertainment.

Miss Christine Switzer, president of the group, led in devotionals and conducted the business session. Several reports were read. Plans were made, and a short practice held for the Sunday evening worship services for Easter when the C. E. will present a short musical program preceding the sermon.

Tentative plans were also made for programs to be presented for shut-ins and the rest homes. Contests and charades of comic strips presented by groups of three were enjoyed. Miss Tigner served tempting refreshments and was assisted in the cordial hospitalities by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Tigner.

Mrs. Harry Fox who spent the past few days here with her mother Mrs. Charles McLean returned to her home in Clayton Thursday and was accompanied by Mrs. McLean who will remain for a visit.

New Officers Are Elected at Beta Circle

Mrs. Max Wilson was hostess to the members of the Beta Circle Child Conservation League on Wednesday evening at her home. Mrs. Glenn Heistand, president, presided over the meeting and opened by welcoming Mrs. Stanley Graulich as a new member.

Roll call was responded to by each member giving the number of their children.

The usual reports followed and a report on the combined annual Beta-Alpha Circle banquet to be held at the Washington Country Club, May 3.

A committee, composed of Mrs. Harmon Welty, chairman, Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, Mrs. Ray Warner and Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Jr., was appointed to be in charge of the arrangements for the Mother's Day Banquet, to be held in May.

A donation was contributed to the crippled children's fund, and it was announced that the C. C. L. District Conference would be held in Centerville, April 19.

The nominating committee presented the names of new officers for the coming year and those chosen by ballot were: president, Mrs. L. C. Scott; vice president, Mrs. Gene Travis; secretary, Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Jr. and treasurer, Mrs. Billie Jamison.

The program, in charge of the president, was made up of short articles read by every member present, which proved to be quite interesting and also a diversion from the usual program.

A social hour followed, during which the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Caryl Williams, Mrs. Carl Wilt and Mrs. Robert Miller, served a dainty refreshment course, featuring clever Easter motifs, with individual cakes topped with miniature chickens, and ice cream molds in the form of bunnies and Easter eggs.

Bare Shoulders Of Latest Modes Become Problem

By BETTY CLARKE

As if women did not have enough makeup problems trying to decide whether to adapt the doe-eyed look and boyish hairdo, along comes another challenge: Bare shoulders.

So you say shoulders are shoulders, and what can be done about them? The trouble is that they are going to be bared more frequently than ever, and will need as much attention as lips, hair, eyes and fingertips.

Last year we wore strapless bathing suits and beach costumes, and managed to cover up shoulder blotches and imperfections with foundation makeup and sheer scarves. This year, it won't be quite so simple.

Even for street and business we probably will wear some of the delightful strapless gowns—with matching jackets, of course, which can be removed for that five o'clock date or dancing later at the country club.

And with the whole fashion world strapless conscious, and offering more built-in security for the wearer who has been fearful heretofore to chance a strapless gown, you probably will want to remove your jacket and scarf and bare your shoulder.

Right now is the time, then, to get busy with posture exercises to get your shoulders in shape. Try the shoulder lift which will really help get the kinks out of your bursa. Raise your arms overhead. Pull them down slowly, keeping elbows back as far as they will go. Do that several times during the day, particularly if you work at a sitting job.

One new fad which will dress up the strapless shoulder (and hide a mole here and there) is the fastening of a flower to the bare shoulder. This can be done with adhesive or cellophane tape, say girls who have tried it. Apply the tape so it doesn't show, and use as little as possible.

Match your lipstick to your flower for that extra splash of color. Whether you choose a garden or hothouse flower—rose, orchid or painted daisy—you'll find a makeup color to suit. And don't forget that if you decide to stain your shoulders with a makeup blender, choose a shade that will complement your costume and face makeup as well.

Spring Furs Have Color

Furs, this spring are an elegant compliment in color. Slimmer, boxier, there's a definite trend to shorter and more fitted jackets that serve as precious foils for dresses and suits.

Pastels as well as vivid colors dramatize the spring '50 scene. Midnight blue Persian lamb, caramel Persian lamb, green mouton lamb, French taupe Indian broadtail, cocoa-dyed ermine are only a few of the furs adopting exciting new colors.

A fur jacket fashion detail adaptation taken from famed French designer Christian Dior, is the dropped shoulderline. It is slightly padded to produce a soft, moulded easy-to-wear fashion.

In keeping with the dropped shoulderline are the double sleeves or three-quarter and open-bottomed sleeves. Also prevalent this season are fur jackets with deep dolman sleeves effects that fit comfortably over new spring suits and dresses.

Let's Not Be Hysterical, Girls

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Any hour now, some exhorter will be urging women of the nation to get together and do something about the state of the world.

Just what they can do is something else again.

The job of patching up an ailing world is too big a job for even the best organized group of women in the United States.

Conceded, no women want war or mass destruction. It has always seemed a ridiculous way of settling disputes, even when the combatants were slinging stones at each other. But now we have evolved weapons capable of knocking out whole populations.

Obviously, the decisions on the manufacture and use of atomic weapons must be decided by qualified authorities as circumstances dictate. It seems obvious that the peoples of the world can't make the decision when large numbers of them are tightly shut off from information and opinions their rulers and leaders wish withheld.

Meanwhile, how are we going to live under the threat of possible abrupt extinction? This threat already has changed our concepts and thinking. It undoubtedly will have greater effects on us in the future. It is hard to move through one's accustomed paces, whether working in an office, laboratory or in the home, wondering just how long we will be permitted to live.

The whole situation is not without its bitter humor. In our work-a-day worlds we see what marvels science has wrought. We use an electric typewriter, our toast pops up when properly browned because of a complicated mechanism. We have at our disposal miraculous drugs curing diseases which used to be considered incurable. At the same time, science which has made our lives longer, easier and more pleasant has dreamed up awful means by which man can annihilate himself.

This alleged peacetime is not too different from war. And in wartime, crime increased, juvenile delinquency soared to new highs. For almost anyone whose conduct deviated from the accepted norm, there was a ready explanation: war hysteria.

After all, we reasoned logically, it's hard to act as if it were business as usual when within hours, days or weeks a young man might find himself in battle danger, wounded or even dead. Young people, caught up in the excitement, snatched at whatever looked desirable at the moment on the theory that by tomorrow it would have vanished forever.

All these elements are in our lives today. It is hard to plan for a relaxed, secure future when there is a serious possibility the planning will be taken out of our hands. It is difficult to explain the old verities and truisms to youngsters when there is doubt as to what their future will be.

We can hope that the worst won't happen. It's the job of the mothers and the wives to keep hysteria at a minimum, and to maintain a hopeful attitude. Certainly we must pray that peoples on the other side of the world are as anxious to survive as we are. There always has been a day after tomorrow, and the world will probably muddle through to this time.

Lent Is Carnival Time in Mexico

By ALBERT S. KESHER
Central Press Correspondent
MEXICO CITY—Lent is carnival time in Mexico. This is the occasion when cares, restraints and everyday routine are left at home and the great king, Good Humor, rules the land south of the Rio Grande.

Poets and peasants, philosophers and politicians, businessmen and bureaucrats join hands to have a rip-roaring good time into which typical Mexican hospitality visitors are invited to join.

Although Lent in every Catholic country is a period of self-denial and penitence, in Mexico the season is the time for the gayest and most continual fiestas. Indians have been quick to adapt the white man's religion to their own uses and it seems likely that some ancient tradition of dancing during the early spring was too strong for even the church to overcome.

Every fiesta, of course, centers in some church and honors some saint. If no saint's day falls conveniently they have a fiesta anyway because it is the first, second or some other Friday in Lent.

At that time the streets are alive with confetti and fireworks, brass bands blare, the music of the marimba, violins and drums is heard throbbing from dawn to midnight and on to dawn again.

TINSEL MASKS and sequined gowns are worn by gay señoritas in the passionate masquerades where strangers meet like long-lost friends and romance weaves

a subtle spell. It is the season of joy and revelry.

In night clubs and private homes there are gala festivities. In every town, large and small, there are native dances, balls, intricate fireworks, parades, special ceremonies and rodeos.

Mexico City, as the nation's capital, is the center of elaborate and lively fun-making. The merry-making, however, is especially animated at the colorful port towns of Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Acapulco and Vera Cruz.

The Veracruzans are my alegres and go in for fiestas of many kinds. Above all they love to dance, whether the musicians strike up one of the torrid hot-country tunes, a waltz, a dansón, the jarabe tapatio, a paso doble or American "swing."

In Taxco, former silver center of New Spain and now a tourist mecca, the carnival is pure Indian and held in the chapel of La Chavarrita.

THE FESTIVITIES are witnessed by a large colony of Americans, most of them permanent residents and engaged in the fine arts, such as painting, sculpture or the metal crafts.

One of the most interesting of the rural carnival celebrations takes place at Huejotzingo, a picturesque little village just an hour's drive from Mexico City on the Puebla highway. There several hundred inhabitants erect a three-day drama whose setting is the entire village.

The theme of this out-door play, which dates back at least two centuries, is the elopement of a village maiden with the famous bandit, Augustin Lorenzo. Lorenzo is portrayed as a rather charming fellow, somewhat on the Robin Hood type. The maiden, generally acted by a stalwart Indian girl in chintz skirts and a bright felt hat, is rather less appealing.

SHE PERFORMS, however, some startling acrobatic feats, descending from a second-story balcony of the city hall to a fiery steed on which she rides off with the daring Augustin.

On the third day, after considerable blood and thunder and after a series of stirring events which include the actual burning of the honeymoon hut, all ends well. The girl's parents are reconciled to her marriage with the daring young bandit, and the tempestuous romance ends on a happy note.

Meanwhile there have been exciting encounters between the French and Spanish soldiers and the Indian warriors portrayed by hundreds of local participants. The Indians, resplendent in Working by hand, it is estimated that 500 persons would have to spend all their working lives—or about 45 years—to accomplish what these electronic machines will do in six to eight months.

John J. Lennon, Philadelphia area supervisor and head of the census' national office, said he hopes to finish compilation of the voluminous data to be channeled through Philadelphia by June, 1951.

"That's really fast work," Lennon explains, adding that years ago census takers used to meet themselves coming and going.

"Why," Lennon says, "back in 1890 clerks were still adding up the 1880 census figures when the 1890 forms started rolling in."

The 1950 census will be the largest co-ordinated population count ever conducted by any nation. The 17th "once-in-every-10-years" job is expected to cost the taxpayers $80,000,000 before it's completed.

Besides people, census takers will count houses, farms, businesses.

They will check the frequency of births and deaths.

They will list every fifth person's income, record how much it costs to raise his family, how much he saves.

They will count chickens, cows, pigs, horses, all productive farm animals.

They will find out how many homes still lack electricity; where irrigation and drainage projects are in operation.

Job for Enumerators

All told, the enumerators will travel about 25,000,000 miles, knock on doors at some 45,000,000 homes in thousands of cities and towns and on some 6,300,000 farms.

Census taking has always had a place in civilization. The Bible contains numerous references to census by the Jews. With the Romans, the census was a regular institution to keep track of taxpayers and soldiers. Babylonian history records a census system before 3,800 B. C. Egypt in the days of the pharaohs had a census to control population movement.

The first census in North America was conducted in 1570 on orders from King Philip II of Spain, in the area then called "New Spain."

The U. S. census resulted from a quarrel among the original 13 states. The small states insisted on equal representation in the federal government. The large states demanded that their size be considered. The matter was settled by making representation in the House of Representatives dependent on population.

The first census in 1790 listed 3,929,214 inhabitants, exclusive of Indians. The enumerators were U. S. marshals and their deputies, about 616 in all.

The 1850 census was the first to list all persons by name. It also asked questions of age, color, occupation, value of real estate owned, place of birth, marriage and education.

For years Congress itself chose the questions to be asked. But since 1930 the director of census, with the advice of business, labor and educational leaders, selected the questions subject to final approval of the secretary of commerce.

Most of Mexico's Timepieces Are Sold by Dealer in Texas

Harry Steele, shown with employees, insists they be always prompt.

By RUTH W. MULVEY
Central Press Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, Mexico — In Mexico, where there are 365 mananias every year, time is a precious commodity.

If you don't believe it, ask Harry Steele, the man from San Antonio who has made a fortune in the last 30 years selling time to the republic. He is the "official hour" of Mexico. The Ha-ste you see on every authoritative clock in the country doesn't mean step on it: Ha-ste means Ha-ryr Steele.

Steele first began back in 1918 selling the products of two American watch companies. Today, he is the exclusive representative for a host of United States and European companies and has a vast distribution empire for products from all parts of the globe.

Still loyal to the instrument of his first successes, Harry Steele has made the wholesale distribution of watches the first of the three divisions into which the Mexican company is divided.

BESIDES plugging T-I-M-E through clocks and watches, Steele actually sells time through his "servicio de tiempo." Some 400 clocks in every railroad station in the country, in airports and radio stations are owned by Steele and are kept accurate through a master clock in the Steele building in Mexico's capital.

This master clock, synchronized to Observatory time, is the country's official hour and corrections are sent out over the telephone regularly by some of the staff of 50 employed for this operation alone.

Steele, who now sells 90 per cent of all the timepieces sold in Mexico, reports that there is increasing demand. Nor does he concur with the feeling that it is because the Mexicans want to know how late they are.

ALTHOUGH the embargo on imported goods curtailed his operation considerably, Steele has not really suffered. Chief difference is that now an increasing number of his products, including watches, are assembled in this country. Not long ago a $3,000,000 workshop and warehouse plant was erected in Mexico City to give scope for expansion of the new operations.

In remotest villages, where time is measured in "sleeps," the people have come to know the Steele salesman who, traveling by burro, have left the company trademark everywhere.

Busiest place in Mexico a few weeks ago when the new "Electric Light Saving Time" went into effect was the Steele switchboard.

Changes have come to Mexico in the last 30 years. The living schedule is new and industrialized. Business has been industrialized. The siesta is an old forgotten custom. Trains arrive according to time tables, and planes and buses, too.

A whole lot of things have happened in Mexico since Harry Steele arrived. And many because he did

TU was held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Clark, Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Hobart Matson opening the meeting with a poem and the salute to the flag. The devotional period was led by Mrs. D. D. Bracketfield who used as her theme, "Awareness," followed by the poem "God Let Me Be Aware" and the scripture, Mark 1:23-27, spontaneous prayer was then offered. The program which followed proved of much interest. The film strip, "Dollars and Sense" was shown with discussion following. In conclusion the article "Drinking in the Teens and Twenties" was given from the study book. Each member answered to roll call with a verse of scripture. A parliamentary drill was conducted by Mrs. Matson and several news items of interest were discussed. A note of appreciation written by F. M. Clark was signed by each member present to be sent to radio station R. F. D. for having no liquor advertising on their broadcasts. After the meeting adjourned, Mrs. Clark served a delicious lunch. The April meeting will be held at the Methodist Church.

Many Red Cross Volunteers On Job Winding Up Fund Drive

As the Red Cross fund drive entered its final stages this week, scores of volunteer solicitors were driving up muddy country lanes in Fayette County seeking to bring the fund drive here nearer its $9,500 goal.

Their work, made more difficult by busy country party phone lines and scattered homes, was under the overall direction of W. J. Hilly, who has charge of solicitations in the rural areas.

Each township had its chairman or co-chairmen, who were on hand lending their more direct supervision to the fund drive.

Thus far, two townships have reported in their returns. They are Paint and Madison. Paint, with $426, was considerably above last year's total of $260. Madison has reported $210, compared to $187 collected last year.

Volunteer workers in Paint Township, who were under Robert M. Jefferson, chairman, were as follows: Mrs. Howard Foster, Mrs. E. C. Kelley, Mrs. W. P. Noble, Mrs. D. E. Mossbarger, Mrs. Joe Elliott, Mrs. Lawrence Mickle, Mrs. Carl Mann, Mrs. Harry Craig, Mrs. Lewis Redd, Mrs. Lavon King, Mrs. Edgar McFadden.

Workers in Madison Township, who are under Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, chairman, were as follows: Mrs. Dilmor Mowery, Mrs. John Beale, Mrs. Fred Vanschoyck, Mrs. Malcolm Dorn, Mrs. A. M. Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Pope and Mrs. Lawrence Grim.

S. Baughn, Ann Story, Mrs. Glen Heistand, Mrs. Martin Crone, C. H. Michael and Roy L. Hays.

3,329 Specimens Are Given to University

Mrs. Leslie L. Pontius, of Circleville, has given to Ohio University at Athens, 3,329 botanical specimens collected by her late husband during many years of scientific study of flora.

The herbarium, one of the best in Ohio, was in exceptionally good condition and very complete in detail.

Mr. Pontius, who died a few weeks ago, was one of the outstanding botanists in the Midwest, and Ohio University will set up his collection in his memory.

Gas production more than doubled from U. S. public lands between 1933 and 1948.

JAIL SENTENCES for "wilful" violators of the anti-trust laws will be proposed to the House judiciary committee by Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D), New York. Among other proposals to put teeth into the law is one to raise penalty to $50,000 for each count of conviction. (International)

Purdum, Juanita Nisley, Helen Waddle, Herbert Pollard, Doris Mark, Mattie McDonald, Nelson Case, Mrs. Glenn Smith and Mrs. George Henry.
Green — Chester, Zimmerman.

TWO PICTURES, EACH WITH SETTINGS not too far from here, have been booked for the State Theater here next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. And, both are in natural color. Half of the double bill is "Young Daniel Boone," the saga of one of this section's most illustrious pioneers. The other half is "Blue Grass of Kentucky," only a little more than 100 miles south of here. The picture story is one of the greatest horse races ever run—the Kentucky Derby.

New Holland Christian Church Holding Revival Services Now

A series of revival services, with special features arranged for each night, at the Christian Church in New Holland today approached the half-way point with steadily increasing interest and enthusiasm.

Rev. H. E. Weaver

Rev. John Tignor is pastor of the church, but the revival services are being conducted by Rev. H. E. Weaver, an evangelist from Bedford, Ind.

Thursday (tonight) has been designated as "Youth Night." The message, Rev. Tignor said, would be along lines that touch the life of the young people of the community. As an incentive for youth attendance, plans were made for what the pastor described as a "fisherman's contest" — with a Bible commentary as the reward for the one who brings in the most companions.

Several of the special features are along competitive lines.

"Fill the Pew Night" has been arranged for April 3, and to the one filling the biggest pew will be given a Bible dictionary. This is open to young and old alike.

April 4 has been set aside for an attendance contest among the Bible school classes of the church. One of the most unique features is to come the night of April 5. It has been called "Old Fashioned Night." Members of the congregation are being asked to wear old fashioned dresses and suits, to come as a family group just as in the old days and to bring the old family Bibles for a display after the services.

Music is to be the big thing at the April 6 service. The triple trio of the New Holland High School and a boys chorus are to provide special music under the direction of Miss Knoke, the school music supervisor.

Bible study classes and chorus drills for the boys and girls have been conducted by Rev. Weaver and Mrs. Tignor during the afternoons since the revival started last Monday. "Demonstration Night" is to be held April 7 to show what has been accomplished by the afternoon services for the community's youth.

This has been set as the closing service of the series.

Rev. Tignor said the services are open to anyone as he extended "a cordial invitation to attend."

Traffic Kills More Americans Than War

NEW YORK, March 30—(AP)—Automobiles have killed more Americans than all the U. S. wars from the Revolution through World War II.

The industrial accident toll is almost as great.

The menaces were stressed yesterday at New York's 20th annual safety exposition.

John Cruickshank, chief engineer of the United States Guarantee Company, gave these figures: 927,260 persons killed by autos from 1906, when the toll was only 666, through last year when there were 31,500 fatalities.

He predicted the 1,000,000 mark would be reached within the next year or two.

In the past four decades,

Humor Horses--Shoer Here Says

Shoeing horses can be a little ticklish — especially when the hoofs start flying.

But it takes a way with horses to get along in this business. And C. C. (Arbie) Arbogast, a horse shoer for almost 50 years, has a manner when he's around horses.

His forge tossing up red streaks of light across his face in the blacksmith shop at the Fayette County Fairgrounds, "Arbie", one day this week, described it like this:

"You have to kind of work with horses like you would taking a kid to the barber shop. You kinda have to play along with them, humor them and get along with them."

He was shoeing Waverly Ann (by Blackstone), a pacer owned by McKinley Kirk and in training at the Fairgrounds track.

While he worked he talked:

"I've been shoeing horses since I was 17. I'm 65 now. Can do five horses a day but it takes a lot of time. Since I've been in the business I've worked on some of the best tracks and some of the best horses."

"I've shod 50 colts—never had a shoe on before—since last fall," he added.

Among some of the most famed horses which "Arbie" says he's shod are Jerry The First and King Counsel. They are only a few among thousands which have gone on to fame on county fair tracks and some of the leading racing circuits.

Fayette County's "Smithy" finds plenty of work to do at the fairgrounds track, where almost 90 horses are in training. Sometimes he goes out on farms in Fayette County, taking with him a portable horse shoeing outfit.

Cruickshank added, industrial accidents killed 790,500 American workers. Last year's total was 16,500.

The dead of all this country's wars total 582,000, he said.

Thousands of Scots left the highlands and emigrated after the defeat of "Bonnie Prince Charlie" in 1745.

Agriculturists say grass is the only crop that can be grown on most of the land in arid Utah.

Boy's Dreams Are Realized

GALLUP, N. M., March 30—(AP)—Six-year-old Billy Shearrow will receive a free trip to the Gallup Intertribal Indian Ceremonial this summer.

Billy, who lives in Canton, O., is suffering from a diseased hip bone. He is encased in a cast from the waist down.

Some weeks ago, his mother sent a note to the Albuquerque postmaster asking for someone from the Indian country to write her son. Billy got truckloads of postcards, letters and souvenirs—mostly from the Gallup area.

The expenses of Billy and his family are to be paid by Gallup service and civic organizations. They will arrange to fly Billy and family to the Indian celebration.

End Is Foreseen For Mill Towns

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. —(AP)—A deep-rooted tradition of the South—the cotton mill village—is disintegrating. Southern cotton mills, which for years have rented scores of village homes, are selling the dwellings to workers.

The break-up of this mill-worker relationship, often termed "feudalistic" by its many critics, is described in a book recently published by the University of North Carolina Press. Harriet L. Herring of the university is the author.

Pride in home ownership and individuality are quickly reflected, the author says. She notes: "Some of the people paint their houses soon after purchasing them even if this is not particularly necessary, using a different color from the neighbors and often putting a trimming in bright contrasting colors."

Doctors wore crosses on their clothing during European plague epidemics of the Middle Ages.

Resurfacing Is Planned Here

Two Streets Are on List This Year

City Manager W. W. Hill is looking forward to an early conference with the division superintendent of the state highway department to take up the matter of further street improvements here this year.

Leesburg Avenue and Lewis Street are the two thoroughfares booked for resurfacing this year.

Leesburg Avenue will be widened much of the way, in addition to receiving a new layer of black top some 2 to 2½ inches in depth.

Lewis Street is to be resurfaced, and there is a possibility that part of it may be widened.

Just what can be worked out with the state is still problematical, but Hill is expecting some arrangement which will mean improvement of the two streets.

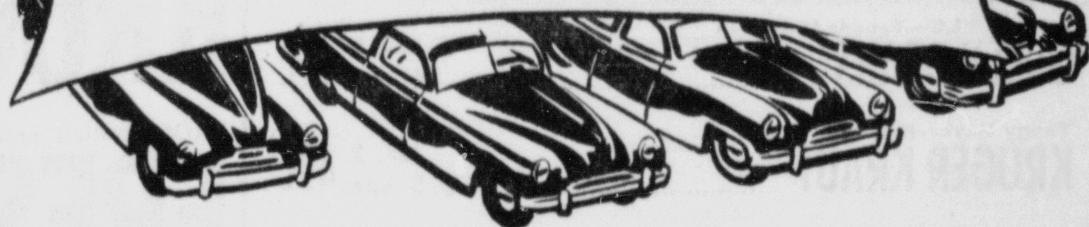

Resurfacing of the two streets will mean that all state and federal routes passing through the city will have received attention and be placed in excellent condition during the past few years.

A NEW THRILL SERIAL, "King of the Rocket Men," is slated to open a two-day run Friday at the Palace Theater. On the same program will be Johnny Mack Brown in "Chip of the Flying U."

Oregon's population of deer, mated by wildlife officials at 654, elk, antelope and bear is estimated 1,000.

Truant Become Millionaire

By MARION SIMS
Central Press Correspondent
LOS ANGELES—On an August night in 1940, a young fellow in shabby clothes walked slowly down Figueroa street here in Los Angeles, jingling a few coins in his pocket. Thirty-five cents—all he had in the world. Enough for a meal. After that, he didn't know.

Hunger and poverty were not a new experience to Ronnie Alcorn. They had been with him since the May day in 1919 when he was born in an attic home in Hamilton, O.

He was next to the youngest of 11 children in the Kentucky Irish Alcorn family. The father, never much of a provider, drifted away finally from the overwhelming responsibilities of a big family.

While other boys his age were playing with childish toys, Roland William Alcorn was already toughened to a hard and meager life. At five—a thin little towhead with bright blue eyes—he was out on the streets selling newspapers and vegetables, wearing the bright checked shirts he had his mother make for him as his salesman's trademark.

The streets were more like home to him than the overcrowded home up under the eaves. He hated school, not because he did not want to learn, but because he felt like an outsider.

"I DIDN'T HAVE clothes like other boys, so I kept running away," he says. And when there was any trouble with schoolmates or in class, he had no father to help iron out the difficulties.

By the time he was 13, juvenile authorities in Indiana, where he had drifted, decided he would be better off in a state institution. He became a number in the Indiana Boys School at Plainfield.

For the first time, Ronnie knew what it meant to sleep between clean sheets, to eat regular meals, to have clothes "like the other boys."

"Those shoes—I was proud of them, all right," he remembers. "When we shined them I'd give mine a few extra slaps with the cloth, and feel like a king."

After 16 months, he was sent home. Now there was a new problem. In public school, and around the neighborhood, he was known as "the reform school kid." Parents didn't want their children to be seen with him.

Again, the outcast. The result was inevitable. He would turn off the street that led to the schoolhouse and spend his days hanging around pool rooms and saloons, picking up odd jobs where he could. The parole authorities finally returned him to the more suitable surroundings of the Plainfield school.

"THERE WAS a new superintendent and I learned a lot of kindness from him," says Alcorn. "Among other things, he had abolished the rule against talking."

"We didn't have to use a sign language to gab among ourselves. We were treated like human beings. I felt now that at last I had a home, that I belonged somewhere."

"Even today I remember those years gratefully. I go back to

Roland W. Alcorn

Plainfield the way other people return for reunions to their old high school or college campus."

For four insecure and lonely years after he left reform school for good Alcorn hitch-hiked over the country, with all the time in the back of his mind the idea that one day he would hit southern California and try for some kind of a job—a little job—in the movies.

However, when he finally reached Hollywood he never got past the front gate of any studio. Even this didn't dim his enthusiasm for films. He would see them all in the cheap, all-night houses on Main Street, and then sleep there.

"A good time to me in those days was to have enough money to ride the big red cars to Venice on a Sunday morning, and sleep all day on the beach in the sun."

THIS NIGHT on Figueroa, oddly enough, he did not feel depressed. He had an Irish hunch that something was going to happen.

"At Ninth street I looked up and saw a big neon sign—'Are You Lonesome? Come On In.' On an impulse, I bought a ticket for 25 cents and went into a hall where people of all ages were dancing and talking."

"I wandered around a while, and then I saw her. She was dark-haired, pretty, and I knew she was the one I wanted to dance with—and talk to."

The girl was Sarah Lockwood, and the place was new to her, too. She worked in a laundry on East Washington street, she told him.

Twenty-one-year-old Ronnie Alcorn listened as they danced, and did some talking himself. The night was singing, and the dime in his pocket felt like a chunk of gold.

"I had been a bum—a good bum—but still a bum," he says now, nine years later, with a smile. "I knew that night that from then on it was going to be different. The next day I went courting. To buy flowers for my girl, I pawned my suit coat."

A week later, with $50 borrowed from her brother-in-law, Ronnie married Sarah in Yuma. "She had to buy my 'trousseau,'" he said. A venture into the lumber business looked like the turn in his struggles. Playing the market, he built up a fortune in lumber holdings in the Pacific Northwest. A fire wiped him out.

CHRISTMAS, 1946, he was in New York, so broke his wife had to borrow money to buy a toy for Ronnie, Jr., the child the Alcorns adopted on their fifth wedding anniversary.

Meeting a friend on the street, he listened to the casual mention that the Brazilian government of Sao Paulo was in the market for a huge order of flour. Alcorn knew nothing about the wheat market, but he had been a chance taker since he was five years old.

Borrowing ten dollars, he made a long distance call to a man he had met the year before—Dave Jackman of a Kansas milling company. Jackman was persuaded into a thousand dollar loan, and Alcorn took a plane for Sao Paulo. He was inexperienced and young, younger looking than his years. He was competing with experienced dealers. But when he returned north a few days later, he had the governor's signature on an order blank.

Later, he returned to Brazil for another order—all told, over a million sacks of flour. In three months, before he was 28, he had made a million dollars. It was the start of a multi-million dollar fortune acquired in the next two years on the wheat market.

THOSE WERE highlights in his changing life that a man would never forget. But Ronnie Alcorn's proud moment came the day he bought his wife a present. It lay in his pocket, no bigger—but heavier—than the dime he had the night he met her.

"Sarah had a little diamond that we had mounted for her engagement ring when we were married," Alcorn says. "Whenever we were hard up we found we could hock it for $10. I guess that little ring was in and out of pawn shops more than any ring in the world. The time came finally when we couldn't redeem it."

It was to replace the little lost diamond that he brought home the present a year ago—a ring set with a 17-carat champagne diamond.

During his skyrocketing success, Alcorn never forgot his original ambition. A deal to make moving pictures in Trinidad had fallen through, and he was traveling by plane from the West Indies to Brazil when the idea came.

Why not make a picture based on his four years' experience in a reform school? Nothing preachy, but real entertainment—a story of compassion and hope that would bring more understanding of wayward boys and girls. It would be his way of starting to repay the help given him.

Before the three-day flight was over, he had mapped out the story of Johnny Holiday. In Hollywood he found writers to work with him. The picture is the first of the Alcorn productions and many of the scenes were made at the Indiana Boys School in Plainfield, Ind.

Alcorn sums up his life so far simply: "I never aimed to make a lot of money. What I wanted was to be loved and respected."

69 in City's Spelling Bee Finals Friday

'One Miss and Out' Finals To Select Winner for District

"Miss once and you sit down."

That's going to be part of the instructions given the 69 spelling wizards from the city schools who will compete in the finals Friday in the WHS auditorium.

Surviving contests held the past few days, the spellers will be representing the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the five grade schools and the seventh and eighth grades in the junior high school.

The spellers will take their places about 9 A. M. Friday, after the class champs reach the auditorium from their respective schools.

The winner of the city spelling bee will join the county winner in the Central Ohio Spelling Bee at Columbus. The county spelling-down will be held at 10 A. M. Saturday at the Wilson School. There are 24 county school spellers competing, with a couple more expected from Jeffersonville, which held its bees late.

The spellers finished up in their grades in the order in which their names are listed below.

The following twelve will represent the seventh grade of Washington C. H. junior high: Tom Moore, Katherine Hackett, Thelma Wood, Jim Croker, Betty Martindale, Herbie Peters, Mickey Milstead, Clara Leeth, Teddy Willis, Connie Locke, Darlene Thornton and Portia Brownell. Alternates are Shelbagen Lowe, Tom Henry and Maynard Elliott.

The top twelve from the class of about 180 in the eighth grade of the junior high, about the same size as the seventh, are: Bruce McLean, Judith Drives, Norman Wilson, Hazel Engle, Glenn Milstead, Annette Cline, Caroline Bondurant, Rosetta Seldon, Verna Rayburn, LaVera Johnson, Carolyn Christie and Ann Ducey. No alternates were named.

Cream of Central

Central School: In the sixth grade, Jo Anne Williamson, Betty Miley and Marqueta Smith, with Linda Lou Hidy and Betty Underwood as alternates.

In the fifth grade at Central: Judy Johnson, Mary Jo Reiff and Janis Gillen, with Shirley Beatty the alternate.

AP Correspondent Ousted by Czechs

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 30—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government today ordered the expulsion of the last American correspondent of the Associated Press remaining in this country.

It refused to renew the press credentials of Nathan Polowetzky, which expire on March 31. Polowetzky, who has been the lone American Associated Press correspondent here since Chief of Bureau Richard Kasischke was expelled last January, was given until April 8 to leave Czechoslovakia.

Bedrich Runge, deputy press chief of the foreign ministry, gave "unobjective reporting" as the reason for the expulsion.

Further expulsions of the few remaining western correspondents here were forecast last week by Information Minister Vaclav Ko-

Pecky who told Parliament that the foreign press corps had been virtually eliminated since the Communists took over the government in 1948.

IPOH, Malaya —(AP)—Malayan security forces are now using "undercover" men who join up with the terrorists to secure valuable information. Yap Hong Heng, a detective attached to the Yap and the four insurgents were ordered to carry out the murder of two police officers and an agent. While the four men slept on their way to the mission, Yap disarmed them and shot them dead. He then returned to headquarters. He had been living with the terrorists since 1948 without their knowing his identity.

Surplus Food Helps Children Thanks to Price Support Plan

Healthy Pittsboro, N. C., school children pick up CCC lunches.

By ESTHER V. W. TUFTY
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Ralph Trigg is "Santa Claus" 364 days a year, yet American farmers, school children, old people and invalids—thousands of them—do not know this agricultural expert by either name.

However, the farmer knows he gets a present in support prices for his potatoes or other surpluses. The children know that good hot lunch comes from somewhere. And many old people and invalids in institutions are grateful for the program he administers.

Of course, over in the Department of Agriculture, Ralph Trigg has more high-flown titles for his two-way job.

He is president of the Commodity Credit Corporation and head of the Production and Marketing Administration.

This operation runs into billions of dollars. Also into more mountains of potatoes (and other commodities) than this administrative Santa Claus can give away.

The CCC has capital stock of $100 million and borrowing authority of $4½ billion. With these funds, paid supports are given to the farmer when crop prices drop.

As PMA administrator, Trigg buys the crops and has charge of distributing those extra commodities and also of conservation, production and marketing.

SOME SIX MILLION American school children have grown chubby on supplementary foods issued for the school lunch program. Good teeth and sound bones have been built from Trigg's potatoes, dried eggs, apples, milk, concentrated orange juice and other foods.

What manner of man is this year-round Santa Claus?

He's a lot younger than that man who comes down the chimney on Dec. 25th. He hails from New Mexico, not the North Pole. But even at 42 and without a white beard, Ralph Trigg is motivated by the Christmas spirit.

Trigg likes people. Born on a cotton and peanut farm, he worked his way through the University of New Mexico as a lumber yard helper. He found time to play varsity football, too.

His first experience in helping needy people came along with the job as state auditor for the Relief Administration of New Mexico. During the war he was personnel chief of Navy Ordnance.

At the moment, he's juggling a hot potato. Cartoonists and headlines ridicule the wholesale potato destruction resulting from confusion of conflicting farm opinion expressed in the Agricultural Act of 1949.

Probably the man most responsible for that act was former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, now the senator from New Mexico.

Present Secretary Charles Brannan has proposed another method of handling the price support program but as yet it has not been tried. The potato mess may result in a trial run of the Brannan plan on one or two commodities.

However, Santa Claus Trigg is not concerned with that.

TRIGG and his aide, H. C. Albin, a wonder at distribution, see the "buying" part of their job as two-fold in purpose: 1—it removes the commodity from the market, 2—Establishes good food habits in the nation looking ahead to the commodity's future market.

Since all the surpluses can't be given away, effort is made to make people eat more of the food in embarrassing abundance.

Women radio broadcasters are tipped off to "push apples" and good recipes are supplied. Cranberries are suggested with something besides turkey. Hotels and restaurants help, too.

The school lunch program nationally serves about 1½ billion pounds of food annually. Some 7,500,000 children are served free or part-paid meals. About 393,000,000 pounds of surplus commodities were distributed last year to school lunch programs, charitable institutions, Indians on reservations, and other needy groups.

Approximately 9,300,000 individuals received surplus commodities last year. Of these, children in 45,500 schools, 1,200,000 inmates in 3,500 charitable institutions, and 255,000 needy individuals were eligible to receive free foods.

Single state-wide agencies handle the program in 35 states and only in three states does the number exceed three.

life," said Patrolman Jenkins. "I felt I had to do as much for him."

Food Price Changes Slightly

(By The Associated Press)

Food prices held close to the levels of last weekend in major marketing centers this week.

Changes in meat, poultry and dairy items were too slight and irregular to show a trend pattern.

Lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers edged upward in most places. Wholesalers said springlike weather spreading over large areas of the country was stimulating consumer demand for these principal salad vegetables.

Broccoli, cauliflower, celery, peas, peppers and spinach were a little lower as shipments increased.

Onion prices were weak following last week's severe drop in the wholesale market, and the agriculture department was preparing to cooperate with growers and distributors in an intensive onion promotion campaign next month to help move anticipated heavy supplies.

Harvesting of the spring onion crop in south Texas already is underway, at least two weeks earlier than usual. The spring acreage in that area is more than double the 1949 harvested acreage, the department said, and largest since the record 1½, 1936. With stocks of storage onions already burdensome and the new crop coming, onions are expected to be on the most-plentiful foods list for many weeks to come.

New potatoes are in about the same position as new onions price-wise, said Merritt Thomas, agriculture department marketing specialist. If the weather gets markedly warmer soon, consumers will turn to them and prices probably will strengthen, he said, but if cold weather returns their prices might go lower to compete with storage stocks.

Speaking of weather, recent low temperatures in central and northern California damaged 72 percent of the 1950 crop of Valencia oranges, the Orange Administrative Committee reported at Lindsay, Calif. It estimated that only 1,700 cars will be marketed from a possible 6,000-car crop.

Oranges from Israel

The first oranges from the Israel area in about 19 years were sold on the Atlantic Seaboard this week. Traders on the fruit auction markets in New York said they were very similar to Valencias and brought prices that compared very favorably with quotations for Florida fruit. A test shipment of good quality lemons from Israel had a less favorable market response because their appearance was not as good as American offerings, these sources added.

The agriculture department's production and marketing division headlined these foods on its plentiful list for April: apples, canned peaches, dried prunes, raisins, beets, cabbage, carrots, onions, potatoes, canned corn, canned lima

One of America's Greatest Retailers Points the Way to MORE SALES TODAY AT Lowest COST

Vice President, Jordan Marsh Co., Boston

One of America's Greatest Stores

● Our large use of newspaper advertising should be an interesting subject for explanation.

I am confident that the question that comes first to your mind is "Why do you use it?" and, second, "How do you justify such use of newspaper advertising?"

It is not very complex... not difficult... not mystical. It is very, very simple. We do use the largest black-and-white newspaper advertising of any store in the world.

COSTS ARE WELL BELOW AVERAGE

Now, the purpose of all advertising primarily is the creation of traffic and resulting sales. The ability to obtain satisfactory results at proper costs is the determinant factor as to whether or not the usage was proper. History—and naked fact—is the best proof of whether our policy is correct. Regarding sales, let me tell you that we have consistently bettered the Federal Reserve average for the city of Boston.

At the same time, using such lineage as we do, our newspaper costs in relation to sales are as low—or lower—percentage-wise as those of the average stores of NRDGA whose volumes are $50,000,000 and up.

That is the simple answer as to why we make such use of the newspaper medium of advertising.

Sales results are better than competition by actual record. Costs are as low or lower by actual measure.

I know that another question is "Will your advertising use of this medium continue at its high level?"

I can see no reason whatsoever why it should not so continue.

SALES RESULTS GOVERN DECISION

Costs being dependent on sales volume, if that volume continues at a high level, so will the advertising use of the medium. Therefore, it behooves newspapers to do everything within their power to assist the advertiser to maintain sales at the high level in order that they may maintain the usage of advertising at corresponding high levels.

I believe each newspaper... is a vehicle on which we can ride to display our merchandise to the consumer. The big problem is the use of the proper vehicle with the proper merchandise at the proper time to reach that desired consumer.

WHAT ABOUT TELEVISION?

... what effect is television... a presentation both visual and auditory... going to have on the advertising dollar?

*From an address to the Advertising Club of Boston, February 7, 1950.

I believe television is a good and growing and coming medium, but I do not think it will take away anything from the newspapers.

The newspaper is the only medium that permits advertisers to present their merchandise simultaneously before the same public and provides thereby the perfect opportunity of equality for competition.

No other medium permits it to anywhere near the same degree—and the success of one store or the other is dependent on the ability of the public to discern which is the best value and who has made the best presentation.

NEWSPAPERS REACH MORE PEOPLE

Also, newspaper advertising... is the only medium which permits an advertiser to reach the greatest and most complete cross-section of the public.

Many magazines direct... their readership to classes of readers... those interested in fashions, home furnishings, sports, etc.

Radio or television solicits by its programming... an audience along the lines of amusement or news and leaves such selection to the choice of the audience itself.

But the newspaper presents all these features to all classes of people simultaneously.

BIGGEST COVERAGE AT LOWEST COST

Further... the newspapers offer the greatest possible circulation at the lowest percentage of cost.

I know I am correct when I credit newspaper advertising with a major role in the success of Jordan Marsh sales accomplishment.

It isn't done with mirrors.

A lot of cold-blooded analysis of results has gone into the calculation of the advertising appropriation. We know what we must have to succeed... and we know wherein we can fail.

NEWSPAPER TIMING FAR SUPERIOR

Another vital factor is timing. Merchandise which arrives in our store this afternoon can be, by dint of hard work on the part of the newspapers, presented to the public within 24 hours in the newspaper.

This... virtue... is shared with radio, but we do know the newspaper will be printed tomorrow. We do know its circulation. And it would be necessary for us to see if we could find or buy radio time on the spur of the moment.

Remember, the newspaper is the one great advertising medium that awaits the convenience of the reader.

A newspaper ad lives for hours... sometimes for days. It is not received in a fleeting moment. It does not have to register within a brief time or be lost forever. It enters the home and is available to every member of the family at a time of his or her own choosing.

AGENCIES' OBLIGATION UNDERSCORED

Now I would like to address the advertising agencies. I think the agency has an obligation to guard against permitting a client to put too much advertising money into an unproven medium of any kind.

Agencies should not... be exclusively radio or television agencies or magazine agencies or newspaper agencies. They should be partners in the proper use of advertising expenditures to bring about the desired result for the client as efficiently and economically as possible by making use of the proper media to do so.

I believe agencies can learn a lesson if they will make a study of the advertising habits of some of America's largest department stores and their distribution of advertising dollars.

This newspaper is equipped to give you—and all advertisers and advertising agencies—substantial practical help toward more efficient use of your advertising dollar. Why not let us tackle your problem—today?

Truman's Reorganization Plan Considered Slap at Labor Law

By CLARENCE J. BROWN

By a 63 vote margin the House last week knocked out of the Housing bill the section providing $2 billion in loans to co-operatives at 3 per cent interest. The Senate by a 5-vote margin previously eliminated the same section of a similar bill. The remainder of the Housing bill, approved by the House, provides government insurance for another $2.75 billion in FHA mortgages; another $600 million of insurance on FHA loans for apartment projects; authority to the RFC to purchase up to $750 million worth of home mortgages; for the sale of government war-housing to local governments and educational institutions; and for extending from 25 years to 30 years the repayment period on GI home loans, thus reducing the monthly payments. In addition, the Senate bill would permit the Veterans Administration to make direct home loans to veterans, who are unable to borrow elsewhere, up to a total of $150 million.

By the time this column appears in print, the House will probably have completed consideration of a new foreign aid authorization bill. This administration-sponsored bill calls for another $3.6 billion of foreign economic aid under the Marshall Plan during the coming fiscal year. Under the House bill $1 billion of this amount would consist of foods and surplus farm products to be shipped over seas upon request. A similar Senate bill, however, provides the full $3.6 billion of foreign aid shall be in hard, cold American cash. Since the shooting in World War II ended—up to March 1 last—the United States has expended $28 billion on foreign economic aid. A strong drive will be made in both the House and Senate to reduce the $3.6 billion foreign aid request of the president substantially.

The president's reorganization plan No. 12, which would "reorganize" Chief Counsel Denham of the National Labor Relations Board right out of his job, thus evading or nullifying certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley act, has become a controversial issue in Congress. Last Tuesday Congressman Ralph E. Church of Illinois, who had introduced a resolution to reject reorganization plan No. 12, dropped dead while arguing the question before the House committee on expenditures. Later, the House committee, by a strict party vote, defeated the resolution. Under the reorganization act of 1949, if a reorganization plan submitted by the president is not rejected by one branch or the other of the Congress within 60 days, it automatically goes into effect. So, look for a battle to break out soon on the floor of the House or Senate over the president's plan No. 12.

By a vote of 347 to 12 the House last Thursday granted its un-American activities committee an additional $150,000 to carry on its investigations of subversive activities in this country. It will be remembered that it was this committee which unearthed and developed the evidence which led to the conviction of Alger Hiss, all despite the efforts of the administration to smother the investigation, and the president's denunciation of it as a "red herring". Incidentally, the House committee on appropriations also voted last week to increase the salary of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, from $16,000 to $20,000 and to give him an additional $50 G-Men to carry on his work.

The House is scheduled to start consideration this week of the so-called omnibus appropriation bill. This omnibus appropriation bill carries approximately $29 billion in appropriations for the various departments and agencies of the federal government, covering all expenditures, except in the field of foreign aid, and for interest on the public debt. The bill totals approximately $12 billion less than the amounts requested in the president's budget. An attempt will be made by the "economy bloc" in the House to make further cuts in the measure when it is read section by section for amendments. It will probably take 10 days or two weeks to complete the legislative consideration of this overall appropriation bill—the first of its kind brought before the Congress in many decades.

Rumor has it that Stuart Symington of St. Louis, now secretary of the Air Force, will be named soon by President Truman to head the National Security Resources Board. The president has had difficulty in finding the right man to head this most important Board. Symington in private life is a successful manufacturer of electrical equipment.

Unless present plans fail, Congress will begin its annual recess Thursday evening, April 6, however, including our own, will remain open.

The Senate investigation of the charges made by Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin relative to radicals in the State Department has been attracting much attention. The final proof or lack of the Wisconsin senator's charges seemingly depends upon whether personnel and loyalty investigation records of the individuals involved will be made available to the committee. Up to date President Truman has refused to permit these records to be turned over to the committee. A number of those whose names have been mentioned in the investigation have loudly denied the charges against them. Many, however, have admitted former connections with organizations and persons declared subversive, while State Department officials insist they have reformed. Most Americans would not want to deposit their life savings in a bank where many employees were "reformed embezzlers." So, why should "reformed" radicals be placed in positions of trust in our State Department?

14 Finalists Emerge For Schoolboy Boxing

The way was cleared today for 15 boxing bouts and three wrestling matches for the grand finale of the schoolboy tournament in the WHS gym Friday night.

From the 14 scraps in the ring Wednesday night, emerged 14 winners who will battle for the division championships Friday night.

And three wrestling matches produced the three finalists for the mat show.

Although there was a nominal charge of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for students at the Wednesday night card, there was little shrinkage in the crowd that had virtually filled the bleacher seats on the first floor for the two nights of preliminaries.

Proceeds from the tournament are to pay for the trophies and help finance spring sports and

Two Pace-Setters Handed Shutouts

Both of the pace setting teams in the Lions League today were smarting under thick coats of whitewash that were spread over them in Wednesday night's matches at Bowland.

The Jamestown Tamers, in the top spot, were shut out by Bloomington's Claws and the Washington C. H. Tamers, in second place were blanked by the third place WCH Claws.

By that clean sweep, the Claws pushed themselves into a tie for the No. 2 position with the Tamers. Morehouse of the Claws turned in 527 for the high total of the two matches.

After dropping the first game to the last place Jamestown Cubs, the WCH Cubs came back to win the last two games to hang on to the top of the second division.

The Bloomington Tailtwisters won the first and last games of the match with the WCH Tailtwisters.

Concession Battle Brews in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, March 30—(AP)—A full scale legal battle loomed today over the city's awarding a million-dollar-a-year food and drink concession for Municipal Stadium to a Philadelphia concern.

Two hours after the Berlo Vending Corp. won the 10-year contract yesterday, the Cleveland Concession Co. filed a mandamus action in common pleas court.

Cleveland Concession, which has been servicing the huge stadium — home of the Cleveland Indians — asked that it be awarded the contract. The company claimed it was the only qualified bidder.

Paul C. Lewis, general manager of Berlo's industrial division, admitted the concern had never handled a ball park concession before.

But he said the company had a $31,820,000 business volume last year and serviced about one-fourth of the nation's outdoor and indoor theatres. He also pointed out that for 10 years, Berlo was concessionaire for Atlantic City's mammoth convention hall.

Donald W. Hornback, secretary for the Cleveland Baseball Corp., said the matter would be discussed Tuesday at a special meeting of the club's directors.

The club official has urged the city to accept Cleveland Concession's bid on grounds that the concern is more capable of handling the business. He told reporters "we are deeply concerned about this award."

Changes Loom In Cage Rules

Jump at Center May Be Revived

NEW YORK, March 30—(AP)—Basketball may resurrect the center jump after all successful free throws in a move to impose more severe penalties for fouls.

This was indicated today in a preliminary report by the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, the supreme governing body of the amateur sport.

The committee, meeting here to study proposed changes, said after a lengthy session last night that most of its some 4,000 groups are in favor of discarding the two-minute rule.

But in doing so, the committee reported, the membership is anxious to try to discourage fouling by installing stricter penalties.

Foremost of these proposals are: (1) Avoid giving the ball to the offending team after successful free throw, (2) Use the center jump to decide possession on these occasions.

The body, made up of representatives from the NCAA, AAU, YMCA, National Federation of High Schools and Canadian amateur groups, continued deliberations today.

The committee's report said a survey of its membership showed sentiment in favor of keeping most of the present rules intact. An exception is the two-minute rule, now widely scorned.

Under the rule, the team which is fouled in the last two minutes of the game retains possession of the ball after a free throw.

The National Association of Coaches recommended yesterday that the two-minute rule be repealed and that the game be returned to the 1944-45 style with uniform regulations and timing for the entire game.

Luke Easter Blasts Doubt About Hitting

TUCSON, Ariz., March 30—(AP)—Just about all doubts about the ability of big Luke Easter, Cleveland outfielder, to hit big league pitching were laid to rest today.

Luscious Luke, the former San Diego batting ace, drove out his fifth homer of the exhibition season yesterday as the Tribe defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-6.

Easter, who also had a single in four trips to the plate, now is tied for club homer honors with Larry Doby.

The victory was fourth in a row for the Clevelanders and their 12th in 20 starts this season. And as long as the winning continues, Manager Lou Boudreau says he will remain on the bench and leave the lineup unchanged.

Ray Boone has been filling Boudreau's shoes in a highly capable manner at shortstop, getting a double and a single in four times at bat yesterday. In the last four games he has nine hits.

Easter's homer climaxed a four-run outburst in the third that gave the Tribe a lead it never relinquished.

The Pirates moved the potential tying run to third with one out in the ninth, but Bob Lemon took over on the mound at that point and ended the game with two pitches. The first was a ball and the second resulted in pinch-hitter Dan O'Connell hitting into a double play.

DP&L Bowlers Win Company Tourney; Reno Wins Trophy

Two glittering bowling trophies were awarded Thursday afternoon to the Dayton Power and Light team, champions of the DP & L tournament.

The Washington C. H. team won the title in competition with the Dayton office and other districts of the DP & L when the tourney was held recently at the McCook Bowling Alley in Dayton.

Frank Reno, of the DP & L office here, won the individual trophy with a high score of 564 for the tournament. His trophy stands about ten inches high, topped by a bowler.

The team trophy, also gold-plated and with a bowler mounted on top, is a little larger.

The trophies were presented by A. E. Weatherly, district manager here, at a safety meeting at 3:30 P. M. Thursday.

The champion team, captained by William Allen, consists of Frank Reno, Darrell Thornton, Leonard Blessing, Charles Mallow and Howard Dellinger.

Kirk's Tractorettes Win Three Games

Kirk's Tractorettes slammed the pins for a 2164 unadulterated total and a three-game victory over the Mac Toolers just like they needed them in Wednesday night's Ladies League bowling at Bowland.

They stretched their already long lead in the race with their clean sweep when the Paullin Motors girls from Mt. Sterling lost their last game to the King Kashers.

Ruth's Beauticians held their tie for the No. 3 spot with Helfrich's Markettes by taking two from the NCR girls while the Markettes were doing the same thing in their match with Wade's Shoes.

The individual scores were mostly in the upper 300s, but Dottie Carman came through with a 518 for the top total.

Softball Workouts Await Good Weather

Softball is in the air again. A sudden chill in the weather forced a postponement of the first spring workout of the National Cash Register team, but the practice will be held Thursday or Friday, if the weather warms up again.

About 25 players will be seeking starting berths on the NCR club and it's a signal for the rest of the teams here to start getting in shape.

It's expected that the Recreation Softball League will be held again this year. That's the action that Manager Tom Dowler will be pointing his team for as they limber up on the NCR field.

The league, one of the fastest in this area, held its competition on Wilson Field here and provided some stirring battles under the lights for many a capacity crowd. Remembering some of those upsets, the habitual no-hitters of Joe Drake and other highlights, the fans will be looking forward to the league openers.

WCH Team Wins Two Out of Three

Johnny Johnson was the big gun for the Washington C. H. entry in Greenfield League's softball bowling Wednesday night. He put together games of 223, 201 and 224 for a total of 648.

The WCH team won the first and last games, but were edged in the middle tilt by the Forest Shaders by three pins.

Atlantic Pact Confab Called

LONDON, March 30--(AP)--The foreign ministers of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations will meet in London May 8 to chart new western moves in the cold war and present Russia with a greater, unified strength.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, announcing the date of the meeting last night, said he foresaw a long peace of the Atlantic Alliance grew firmer and the eastern world could be held as its ally.

"I think the day is not far distant," said Bevin, "when growth of this power xxx will create a situation where there will be no alternative but to negotiate, to settle once and for all this problem that has cursed the world for so long."

His words were taken to mean he thought the Soviet Union, facing the combined western strength, would have no alternative but to negotiate with the west on problems dividing the world.

The phrase "red tape" became current in England in the 18th century.

Life in the Mayhew household becomes a comedy when the water, which suddenly turns into a liquid, and comes to life. Jenny Mayhew keeps house. Natalie, younger, works as a designer. Jenny determines to make out very busy day off at something other than grubbing housework. Her earnest young husband, Fred, is greatly distressed. And then rich, ambitious Jack Tyson enters the scene, promising to help Diane find a modeling career.

CHAPTER EIGHT
REALLY, bending her efforts to the task now, Jenny set about drawing Gary out of his shell. "Natalie says you are working on a new kind of fluorescent lighting," she said. "Tell me something about it. Is it a new type of bulb?"

"Not exactly," he said, rousing himself to answer her. "It's to be used in industry, and is really only an improvement on what we have now."
"Would it be something Natalie could use in the studio? She has only the old type fixtures and on dark days I think she strains her eyes, particularly if she's working on a drawing with fine detail."
He glanced once, quickly, toward her sister, and there was such intensity of emotion in his look, that Jenny was startled. She might remain in the dark as to Natalie's feeling for him, but she knew now, without a doubt, that Gary loved Natalie. It was a look at once tortured and protective, anxious and despairing. Involuntarily, Jenny's hand went out to touch him, to comfort him in some way, but she drew it back in time. It would never do to let him know now that she had fathomed his secret.

He said, "I wish she'd let me fix up that studio for her and give her the proper lighting for her work. I suggested it once, but she said she couldn't afford it. I didn't mean it that way, of course. I had just wanted to do it for her."
Jenny nodded. "She won't take anything she can't pay for, but you mustn't blame her for that. It was instilled into us by our mother from the time we could understand anything at all. And she's very proud, you know."
"I know," he agreed. His face, as he turned away from her, was a mask of discouragement. What did he mean?

She said quickly, "But she made a wonderful new contact yesterday in New York and sold quite a few of her designs. If it works out, it will mean that she can earn a great deal more."
His face remained set, and he answered politely, "I'm sure she'll become a great success. She's clever and attractive, and her work has real appeal. Besides, she does not skimp on it--doesn't try to get by through her attractiveness. Yes, she'll get there."

Jenny frowned. He had sounded like a catalog of her sister's virtues, but this last phrase sounded so disheartened that she prodded him a little.
"Get where?"
"To the top. Where she wants to be," he answered.
"Of course, anyone wants to get to the top of his field. That's perfectly natural. You can't blame her for it."
"I'm not blaming her," he said with sudden vehemence, and turned to look straight into her eyes. "But it's bound to get me down when I realize that every step forward for her takes her that much further from..." He broke off and closed his mouth with a determined air. He would not say any more. Jenny knew.

But he did not need to. She understood that he would have said, "Every step forward takes her that much further from me." That was the word he had bitten off, the word he would never say. And she knew, too, that he was so set in this conviction that any move would have to come from Natalie. He would never be the one to make it.

"I wish Diane were here," Jenny stopped in mid-step, surprised to find that she had said it aloud. She had been saying it to herself all afternoon, and now it came to the surface of her mind, and slid from her tongue.
She did wish that Diane were here. And yet, in a way, perhaps it was as well that she wasn't. It was Natalie's birthday, and Jenny was preparing a buffet supper party in celebration. There were to be Brent and Gary, of course; Faith Owen, their next-door neighbor, and Max Lord, who had been squaring the pretty little widow for some time now; Pete and Elsa Torres. A comfortable, easy-to-handle crowd. But if Diane had been present, there would inevitably have been comment about Fred's absence, and that would have been awkward indeed.

Surprisingly, no one seemed aware of the crisis in their married life. Fred Barbour was active in several organizations, and it was pure luck that he had been sent as a delegate to one of the conventions shortly after Diane came home to stay with her sisters. People seemed to think that she had simply tired of housework, and was visiting with them for a while. Everyone was conscious of how close the three sisters were. And then, too, the fact that Fred had appeared frequently at their home made it look as if there had been no rift.

But Jenny realized that talk would begin soon enough. Fred had been home now for almost a week. People would expect the bride to return to her home in a day or so. She hated the thought of scandal's touching them; hated the thought of the surmises which would circulate--none of them accurate, all of them unkind.
Now she tried to put all this resolutely from her mind. This was Natalie's birthday, and she was determined that the supper party should be a success. It was unseasonably warm for the end of September, one of those close fall days with a haze in the air. She was glad she had prepared two alternate menus--one in case the weather was cold, one in case it was warm.

She paused now in the middle of the old-fashioned kitchen to go over her plan, counting off the items on her fingers. "Let's see," she murmured. "Consomme Mac. drilene. Out of a can, but good with lemon slices and parsley. pitel screamed when an ambulance yesterday came up to the entrance. An attendant told Sheridan a baby had been hurt at a certain address. "That's my boy!" Sheridan exclaimed. He rushed inside and found his 11-month-old son, Michael, on an operating table--dead. Mrs. Sheridan said she had left the boy alone in his high chair for a moment. When she returned, he was hanging by his neck, his head caught by the food tray.

Donors Give 70 Pints of Blood To Mobile Unit

Several Donations Made by Businesses And Industries Here

Seventy residents of Fayette County, almost half of them from industries and businesses in Washington C. H., trooped into the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday to donate a pint of blood to the Red Cross bank.

Their blood donations will insure that Fayette County will continue to participate in the benefits to be derived from the Red Cross blood program. In other words, if residents of this county need blood for transfusions, it will be made available free for the asking.

On hand Wednesday to take the blood donations were a staff of nurses and a doctor from Columbus. A bloodmobile unit was set up at the Presbyterian Church here for the purpose of obtaining the donations.

There were many donors from various industries and businesses. They included the following:

From National Cash Register--Roscoe Hains, Herman H. Burg, Robert Fout, Frank Cornell Jr., Clarence Crabtree, Gerald Scott, Charles Coil, Harold Moots and Kenneth Dowler.

From the Fayette County Farm Bureau--Ben Glover, Cecil Van Zant, Samuel Roush, Dexter Rollins, Waldo Purdom, James Christman and N. Brown.

9 Die in Fire

J. White of Springfield Township, one of the first officials to arrive on the scene.

"Nurses and attendants did a wonderful job of quieting the patients," he said.

Nurse Is Heroine

Chew told of how Mrs. Theresa Shaw, 38, an off duty nurse, refused to leave the women's section until the last of the patients had been helped through the windows.

"She crawled on her stomach alongside me," said the fire marshal, "directing the firemen to the patients in the small private rooms. Not once did she get excited and not until the last patient had been evacuated would she leave."

Mrs. Shaw, employed at the sanatorium for the last nine months, returned from her day off just as the firemen arrived.

George Lewis, 45, an attendant off duty, said he was awakened at 10:45 by the night attendant, Wilbur McInturn.

In Violent Section

Donning a bath robe, he said he grabbed the keys to the restraining straps worn by the patients in the "violent section." Lewis said 12 patients were in the section.

"I knew most of the patients by their first names," Lewis said. "This helped to keep them calm and avoided a lot of trouble for the firemen who carried them out."

Lewis, himself, suffered from smoke inhalation and was treated at the scene by an ambulance crew.

Frank Buccino, 40, a Philadelphia auxiliary fireman, was driving along Germantown Pike when he saw the flames about a block away.

"I ran into the building and up to the second floor," Buccino said. "I found I was in the women's ward. I led four women out. Some of them fought me violently and scratched my face."

Buccino was overcome by smoke, was revived and went back to lead four more women patients from the building.

Veteran Nostalgic Over Movie Scenes

The motion picture "Battle-ground," which recently played at the Fayette Theater, caused John Anderson, of 129 West Paint Street, to relive some anxious moments.

The film told the story of the 101st Airborne Division and its heroic defense of Bastogne, the vital communications center in Belgium, during the height of the Battle of the Bulge.

The 101st was surrounded. Their holding out against overwhelming odds was acknowledged as one of the chief factors in breaking the German counter-attack.

John Anderson remembers that territory and some of those happenings from his service with the First Battalion, 134th Infantry Regiment, 35th Infantry Division.

John, who has taken his place as the third generation of grocers at the Anderson's Market here, has a few bound scrapbooks that tell the story. He says the movie was pretty authentic. He saw it three times.

A distinguished unit citation, printed in the regimental history, says: "On 28 December 1944, elements of the 134th Infantry Regiment, moving rapidly northward from hard-won positions at Hahnen, Germany, relieved elements of the 318th Infantry south of Bastogne . . . and attacked northward in conjunction with the 4th Armored Division to relieve the isolated 101st Airborne Division in the vicinity of Bastogne."

Although the original outfit crossed the English channel and landed at Normandy before starting its march across Europe, Anderson joined it for the campaign at Bastogne.

Educators Back From Discussion

Health Education Topic at Hillsboro

A group of Fayette County educators has returned from a discussion and talk on health education held Wednesday in Hillsboro.

W. J. Hilly, superintendent of the county schools; Harold E. Thomas, superintendent of the Good Hope schools; Wilson W. Webb, principal of the Wilson School and Milford Barker, superintendent of the Madison Mills school, attended the meeting.

J. Paul Strevey, executive-secretary of the Fayette and Highland County Tuberculosis and Health Association, was the group's host at the meeting at which some top health officials in the state presented their views.

Co-sponsors of the dinner meeting were the Highland TB Association and members of the health education class there.

Taking part in the afternoon panel discussion were Dr. Paul Peterson, state associate director of health and Dr. Charles Nelson, executive-secretary of the Ohio State Medical Society.

The two speakers discussed the health education program and Dr. Nelson told of the availability of information and literature of the American Medical Association to the teachers at their request.

At the dinner meeting, Strevey made a report on the sale of TB seals and other activities.

Frank Cameron, health coordinator at Miami University and director of the teachers' program in Highland County, spoke briefly and introduced the chief speaker, Paul Landis, the state director of health and physical education.

Landis spoke highly of the accomplishments made by the cooperation of the various health organizations and health departments.

The Highland County health education course for teachers has achieved such success in its first year that many other counties in Ohio are considering adopting similar programs.

To Begin Work On Palmer Road

Start On $40,000 Project Next Week

Work on the $40,000 Palmer Road project is scheduled to begin next week.

State officials and representatives of the contracting firm met with County Engineer Charles E. Ferguson in the latter's office Thursday morning to iron out final details of the work.

The road lies in Jasper and Union townships.

The State Highway Department originally set the estimated price of the work on the 5.64 miles of the Palmer Road at $58,830. But the Clinton Construction Company of Wilmington was awarded the work on its low bid of $39,733.57.

The job calls for overall improvement of the road, with grading, drainage, a bituminous resurfacing and widening the road to 18 feet. A completion date of August 31, 1950, was set on the federal-state-county project.

In planning the work, Fayette County's share of the cost was set at $12,250, with the state and federal governments each adding $20,000. Since the bid price was under this $52,250 total, the county will be partially reimbursed, Ferguson said.

Labor for the job is expected to be drawn from the unemployment bureau here.

Clinton Historical Society Is Launched

Other officers named were Mrs. Harry Hague Jr., vice president; Miss Claire Hague, secretary;

Charles R. Starbuck, treasurer, and Mrs. Ethel Hayes, historian. Named to the Board of Directors were Eldon L. Hayes, M. D. Barns, Judge Hugh J. Wright, W. J. Galvin and Mrs. Louis Lierance.

The two hymns, "Whispering Hope" and "Beyond the Sunset," were sung by Coyt Cleary and Prior Timmons. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary McGee.

The pallbearers, who also took care of the flowers that banked the casket, were Wendell Evans, Wendell Kirk, Edward Kirk, Robert Timmons, Weldon Timmons and David Timmons.
